EIGHTEEN KILLED AND 30 HURT IN TORNADO

CHANGE MAY BE MADE IN SEWER LINE MEASURE

Power Company Lobbyists Do Not Like Wording of Weller's Bill

Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 12.—Lobbyists of the power companies see "dynamite" in Glendale's legislation regarding the construction of a sewer line into Los Angeles.

According to Assemblyman Frank C. Weller, they take exception to the wording of his bill which permits cities to extend sewer lines, power lines, water and gas mains, etc., into and through another municipality.

So it is probable that slight changes will be made in committee to satisfy the all powerful interests who are ever ready to spend millions in defense of their inalienable rights to the public wealth, as it were.

Plea For Unity

While division of the state is seriously considered by high minded people on both sides of the Tehachapi, Assemblyman Weller expresses the hope that sufficient and powerful public spirited citizens will appear here Thursday and make a proper plea for reapportionment to save the unity of California at this time.

The unity of California is desirable, but the strangle-hold of San Francisco on politics must give way. The country districts would be most seriously affected by state division and they should get their representatives to insist on strictly constitutional reapportionment at this session of the legislature, in the view of Mr. Weller.

For G. A. R. Meeting

Senator A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena expresses confidence in the passage of a $25,000 appropriation, asked by Assemblywoman Miller, to bring the national G. A. R. encampment to the Crown City in 1924, the fiftieth anniversary of Pasadena's founding.

This will probably be the last opportunity for the veterans of the Civil war to visit the Pacific coast.

Aviator Near Death After Crash of Plane

MONTEREY, March 12.—Harvey Pugh of Berkeley, former army aviator, was near death today at the El Adobe hospital here with a fractured skull, broken legs, a broken arm, broken jaw and several fingers, and arrangements were being made to ship the body of Chester Williams, secretary of the Williams Brothers' Airplane Company, to his home in San Francisco, following the crash of a plane piloted by Pugh over the Pebble Beach golf links.

Pugh, with Williams as a passenger, together with another plane piloted by Marshall F. Boggs, had been soaring about over Pebble Beach as Gloria Swanson and her company filmed a picture below, the machines in the air forming a background for the outdoor scenes being taken.

Suddenly Pugh's airplane went into a nose dive. He endeavored to straighten it out but was unable to do so and a second later it crashed into the golf links turf.

Boggs, realizing disaster had overtaken his flying partner, swooped down and landed a few seconds after the crash, assisting in the work of rescue. He revealed that Mrs. Pugh is seriously ill in a Spokane hospital.

Establish Identity of Man Shot As Burglar

LOS ANGELES, March 12. — The body of C. T. Wilson, said to be of Berkeley, was held at a local undertaking establishment today awaiting word from the north following his being shot and instantly killed last night by L. E. Tyson, according to the police, when he was mistaken for a burglar near an apartment house in Wright street.

Tyson declared to the police that when he approached Wilson he started to run toward him and appeared to have a revolver in his hand and that he fired when Wilson was within close range of him, killing him instantly.

A search of Wilson's person failed to reveal any burglar implements. His identity was established through a note book found in his coat pocket.

Secret of Mount Lassen Is Hidden Until May Comes

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—Just what is happening at Mount Lassen, North America's only live volcano, which has been in a mild state of eruption since Saturday, probably will not be known until May.

Winter's ice and snow will block approach from the southern side for close observation until that time.

The present disturbance is believed to be due to the formation of a new crater on the northeast side.

"It is well known that the northeastern side is the weakest," said Winfield Scott of the Western Pacific railroad, who has made a study of the volcano.

Dr. Immanuel Friedlaender, head of the Naples Institute of Volcanology, and one of the foremost living authorities on the subject, who visited Mount Lassen last May, said the next crater would certainly be formed on the northeastern side. He expressed belief that in the great eruption of May 22, 1915, there had been a split on the northeastern side, probably 5000 feet vertically and that this split would mark the location of the next crater.

BRITISH DEPORT IRISH PLOTTERS

Extradition of Republican Agents In U. S. to Be Asked by Dublin

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service

LONDON, March 12.—Another roundup of Irishmen and women in England, accused of plotting against the Irish Free State, may soon follow the widespread raids of Sunday during which almost 100 persons were seized, it was learned this afternoon.

It is understood the Dublin government plans to ask the United States to extradite Irish republican sympathizers who are accused of raising funds and engineering the shipment of contraband war materials.

Warrants used in making arrests in this city, Manchester, Birmingham, Liverpool and Glasgow, read:

"This person is charged with acting or being about to act in a manner prejudicial to the restoration of law and order in Ireland."

Police Smash Doors

While it was reported that the Irish were conspiring against the safety of King George no mention of such an accusation was contained in the writs of arrest.

Art O'Brien, known as "the London ambassador of the Sinn Fein," was taken from a fashionable apartment house. The other tenants were awakened by the police smashing down the doors of O'Brien's apartments.

Arrangements for the deportation of the men and women captives were completed before the raids began. They were quickly taken to a west coast port where a British light cruiser was waiting with steam up to take them to Ireland. When the cruiser reached port, Free State military police were waiting to receive the deportees.

Big Appropriation for Air Service Is Urged

WASHINGTON, March 12.—An appropriation of $25,000,000 a year during the next five years for the army air service alone is vital to the safety of the United States, J. Mayhew Wainwright, retiring assistant secretary of war, declared today in his final report to Secretary Weeks.

Within two years, Wainwright asserted, the air service will have on hand less than one-half the number of aircraft necessary for normal peace time work, and, with the airplane industry virtually extinguished, it would require a year to create the industry anew to produce materials sufficient to meet an emergency.

SLEET, SNOW CAUSE LOSS, INJURY IN MID WEST

Thousands of Dollars In Damage Results; Number of Persons Hurt

CHICAGO, March 12.—A snow and sleet storm swept the middle west today, blowing down telegraph lines, flooding cellars of homes, hampering transportation and causing injuries to a number of persons.

Ten persons were hurt in Chicago and damage estimated at thousands of dollars was done.

Heavy property damage was caused in the vicinity of Terre Haute, Ind.

Telegraph poles were torn down and the wreckage put several large establishments out of business. The Wabash river registered a rise.

Telegraph wire communication west of Chicago was in bad shape. In numerous parts of the west thunder storms were reported.

Sweeps Southern Indiana

MITCHELL, Ind., March 12.—Thousands of dollars' worth of damage was caused by heavy winds which swept through southern Indiana early today.

Telephone communication to nearby points was cut off, poles blown down and trees uprooted. Roofs of two business buildings here were torn off.

Boys' Head Cut Off

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 12. —The head of James Baker, 5, son of Mrs. Julia Baker, was severed this afternoon when he was blown by a heavy gale under a traction car. The child was playing on ths sidewalk when the high wind storm struck the city.

Fire Shots and Hurl Acid In Family Row

Shots fired near the intersection of Adams street and Acacia avenue about 10 o'clock Saturday night caused Sergeant E. Epps and Patrolman Ralph Baugh to hurry to the scene. Here they arrested Sam Stein, who gave his address as 140 North Breed street, Los Angeles.

The Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital notified the police department a few minutes later that a woman had just been brought in with acid burns and cuts about the face.

Lieut. Joe Griffin succeeded, he says, in getting a confession from Stein. He admitted that he had deserted his wife and had been keeping company with the woman who had been taken to the hospital, the police say. They had come to Glendale to make a call at 908 East Acacia avenue, upon Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cohn. As they were about to step out of their automobile, another machine pulled up. It contained Mrs. Stein and her two grown sons. They started to fire revolvers and one of the party, the police say, threw a bottle of acid at Stein's companion. This action having been completed, the automobile turned around and started back to Los Angeles.

Stein was advised to keep out of Glendale. His companion was released yesterday from the hospital and permitted to return to her home in Los Angeles.

Reparations to Pay Rhine Army Bill, Plan

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The new proposal of the allies that payment of the $250,000,000 bill of the United States for the maintenance of the American army of occupation in Germany, be made from future reparations receipts was received at the state department today from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Eliot Wadsworth, who is representing this government in the negotiations in Paris. Officials declined to discuss the proposal pending the allied plea for more time.

PULLMAN CO. LOSES

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The Pullman Company today lost by a decision of the supreme court of the United States its suit to recover from Friend W. Richardson, state treasurer of California, taxes paid under protest upon a mileage proportion of its gross receipts from interstate commerce under the California gross receipts tax law. The tax was levied first in 1911.

TWO TENNESSEE TOWNS HIT BY TERRIFIC GALE; BIG PROPERTY DAMAGE

Two Churches, School Houses, Many Homes Demolished; Communication Cut Off; Red Cross Prepares To Aid

JACKSON, Tenn., March 12,—Eighteen persons were killed and thirty others injured, many seriously, in a tornado, which swept the town of Pinson, nine miles south of here last night, according to a report received here today. Several persons were injured and one is reported missing at Beanburg, eighteen miles south of Jackson, according to a telephone message today.

Two churches, a school house and practically every home in Pinson were demolished by the terrific gale which struck the town about 8 o'clock last night. Telephone communication to the town was cut off, but it was said that the death list was established at eighteen and possibly would reach above twenty, as several of the injured are in a critical condition.

Pinson is located on the Mobile & Ohio railroad. Most of the injured are being brought to this city for treatment.

Beanburg is eighteen miles south of here, but owing to disrupted communication only meager advices have been received.

The property damage at both points is said to have been great.

Practically everything that was in the path of the ferocious winds was swept away.

The local Red Cross organizations and citizens are preparing plans for relief of the stricken towns.

Program Is Completed For Husbands' Night At Tuesday Afternoon Club's New Home

URGE CHANGE IN BY-LAWS OF CLUB

College Women In Informal Meeting at Home of Mrs. E. B. Sutton

"Twin Pines," the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sutton at 727 East Windsor road, furnished the delightful background Saturday afternoon for an informal social meeting of sixty members of the College Women's club of Glendale. Assisting Mrs. Sutton in receiving were Mesdames A. A. Barton, R. L. Holland, C. H. Crawford and William Hunter.

The Sutton home is most artistic and adequate for entertaining and with ideal weather on Saturday the beautiful views from the garden pergola of the mountains to the north, and the green hills view from the south porch were greatly enjoyed.

Arrangements of spring flowers decorated the rooms where the company was grouped for the business session and short program.

Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, president, was in charge of the meeting hour, when a report was heard from Mrs. Frank Parr, chairman of the membership committee.

Mrs. Parr stated that her com-

Special Examiners to Probe Bank's Affairs

CHICAGO, March 12.—Coincident with the arrival today of a battery of six special bank examiners from Springfield to continue the examination of the affairs of the closed Logan Square Trust and Savings bank, announcement was made that the bank would not re-open today, as had been contemplated. Closing of the bank followed the suicide of Fred W. Popp, its president.

CONFESSES MURDER

COLLINSVILLE, Ill., March 12. —Surrendering to the police here today, Felix Saknewick, 42 years old, confessed that he shot and killed Joe Poose, 52 years old, last night, dismembered the body and threw it into Canteen creek, on the western edge of this town.

BOY IS KILLED

PORTSMOUTH, O., March 12.—James Dennis Boggs, 9, was instantly killed and five of his boy companions were injured when the roof of the South Portsmouth school building was blown off by high winds today.

DEATH WAVE SWEEPS ON RHINELAND DISTRICT

French and Germans Clash and Number Killed In Violent Fighting

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service

ESSEN, March 12.—A wave of violence that has swept the Ruhr since the French entered continued during the past forty-eight hours. A dozen persons have been killed or wounded, mostly French soldiers.

At Dortmund a French soldier was killed and five others were wounded in a revolver battle with Germans.

A later report from Dortmund said that a German police commissioner and four policemen were wounded.

The most sensational killings took place at Buer, where Lieutenant Coltin of the French chausseurs and Chief Engineer Joly, in charge of the French railway engineers at Buer, were shot to death.

German witnesses at Buer swear they saw a French soldier fire the shot that killed the two French officers.

Shot Seven Germans

PARIS, March 12.—Seven Germans were shot to death at Buer by French troops today in a riot, according to a despatch from there this afternoon.

The trouble began when two Germans, suspected of being assassins of Lieutenant Coltin and M. Joly of the French Ruhr forces, were shot and killed at Buer while trying to escape.

Five more Germans were killed during the fighting, the despatch said.

German Commander Dies

BERLIN, March 12.—Lieutenant Von Mueller, commander of the German cruiser Emden, the most famous of Germany's wartime commerce raiders, died today at Brunswick.

Commission Will Mark Boundary of Red River

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The supreme court of the United States today ordered a special commission to mark the boundary along Red river in accordance with recent decision of the supreme court of the United States. The lines to be marked include the Big Bend area, valuable for oil, and lands included within Indian treaty territory, including settlement of riparian rights.

Prize Bulldog Is Appendicitis Victim

WOODLAND, March 12.—Even canine aristocracy must pay the penalty for aristocracy.

"Speed," prize winning Boston bull, valued at $5000 and owned by O. D. Payne, is dead today, a victim of appendicitis.

He was X-rayed, operated on and all to no avail. The case was said to be the first reported by veternarians.

Gompers Recoverng From Attack of Flu

NEW YORK, March 12.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who has been seriously ill with influenza here, passed a comfortable night and is much improved today.

Three Places to Vote On Thursday For School Bonds

DENIAL that many of the residents of the grammar school district will be disenfranchised at the bond election Thursday for $500,000 because of the placing of the precinct lines was made this morning by Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools.

According to Mr. White, these precinct lines were arranged after a consultation with representatives of the county surveyor. He stated that the precincts not only included all of the city of Glendale, but portions of the school district outside the city limits. These districts include Casa Verdugo and Sycamore Canyon.

Voters living south of the center line of Colorado street will cast their ballots at the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school, at the corner of Glendale and Park avenue.

Voters living north of the center line of Doran street and west of the center line of Jackson street will express their opinions at the Central Avenue school, at the corner of Central and Dryden avenues.

Voters living outside these two precincts including Sycamore Canyon and Verdugo Canyon will vote at the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school at the corner of Wilson avenue and Jackson street.

According to some literature issued in support of the bond issue it would appear that a large number of voters would be disenfranchised through lack of a polling place. However, this is denied today by Superintendent White.

IMPOSE PENALTY FOR TWO DEATHS

French and Belgians Will Settle Reprisals for Slain Officers

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

BRUSSELS, March 12.—French and Belgian officials today discussed joint penalties to be imposed upon the Germans in reprisal for the assassination of two French officers between Buer and Recklinghausen Saturday night. Chief figures in the conference are Premier Poincare of France and Premier Theunis of Belgium.

From Belgium sources it was announced that Belgium will shortly relieve her forces in the Ruhr with fresh units. Reinforcements will be sent, including the number of Belgians above the quota that has been employed.

Experts have completed a proposal for issuing new currency in the occupied Rhineland and Ruhr to take the place of both French and German money. They submitted the proposal to the two premiers and their colleagues.

Injunction Case Is Once More Continued

The demurrer in the case of George A. Montgomery against the City Council of Glendale and other municipal officials, brought through injunction proceedings against the city's purchase of two parks, Airport Park and Verdugo Park, will be heard in department 16 of the superior court, Los Angeles, tomorrow morning, it is announced today from Los Angeles. The case came up today and was continued. Hartley Shaw, city attorney, represents the municipality, while John Everson is attorney for Montgomery. It is claimed by city officials that the injunction proceedings were started by a faction favoring annexation of Glendale to Los Angeles.

JAIL SCORES ON CHARGE OF IRISH PLOTTING

Many Under Arrest From Raids; Extra Big Guard Surrounds Prisoners

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service

DUBLIN, March 12.—Ninety-six republican sympathizers charged with plotting against the Irish Free State, who were deported to Ireland from England late Sunday, were interned in Mountjoy jail today by the Dublin government.

Free State officials regard the arrests as most important. The prisoners are surrounded by an extra heavy guard.

It is understood that Joseph McGrath, chief military aide of the Free State government has spent several weeks in Ireland and Scotland laying plans for the raids by locating irregular leaders.

Charge Definite Plot

For months there has been a steady stream of munitions, arms and money flowing into Ireland from England.

Documents seized in the raids in London, Manchester, Birmingham, Liverpool and Glasgow while the arrests were under way, are said to have revealed the existence of a definite plot. The wording of the warrants upon which the arrests were made also indicated this. It is said that King George was endangered by one ramification of the conspiracy.

Quantities of ammunition were found in houses where some of the men and women were arrested. The munitions were said to have included dum-dum (soft nosed) bullets.

Rebel Colony in Paris

Free Staters have obtained evidence of a considerable rebel colony in Paris. It is possible that negotiations may be undertaken with the French for the deportation of the republicans, but there are many difficulties in the way of such action.

The home of Mrs. Erskine Childers, widow of the former republican leader, was raided by Free State military police, who arrested four women and seized a quantity of documents.

A Free State officer was killed when irregulars attacked the barracks at Cresloughy, County Donegal. The attackers were beaten off.

Republican representatives are said to have deposited large sums recently in British and American banks to carry out the plot frustrated by Sunday's raids and arrests.

Form Branch of Klan Composed of Women

SACRAMENTO, March 12.—Organization of a branch of the Ku Klux Klan here to be composed entirely of women, all of whom must be American-born, is now in progress, it became known today.

The Klans-women are being recruited in department stores, laundries, restaurants and business houses. Wives of Klan leaders are said to be acting as recruiting officers.

The feminine members of the Klan thus far recruited are said to number approximately 100.

Boy Dislocates Spine When Washing His Neck

CHICO, March 12.—Boys who object to washing their necks have a new argument against this "torture invented by stern parents" today.

Milton McCallum, son of Duncan McCallum, Butte county court reporter, was scrubbing the back of his neck violently when he dislocated the vertebrae as a result of his energetic ablutions.

He was rushed to the hospital, his neck re-set and today he was none the worse for the experience.

Mystery Deepens In Hunt for Lost Priest

ST. LOUIS, March 12.—The mystery clouding the disappearance of Rev. John A. Vraniak, pastor of a Catholic church at Virden, Ill., deepened today as police and friends had traced without avail every possible clew as to his whereabouts.

Although the priest dropped from sight a week ago today, no word has been received from him nor tangible clew has been found.

On the first page of the Glendale Daily Press in its issue of Tuesday, March 6, there appeared a report of a meeting held in Los Angeles by the "Legislative Committee" of the California Teachers' association at which certain resolutions were adopted, the general nature of which was disclosed by conspicuously displayed captions as follows:

EDUCATORS PROTEST FUND CUT

Legislative Committee of State Teachers Passes Resolutions

SCHOOLS MENACED

Assert Makes No Provisions for Increased Attendance

The text of the resolutions was prefaced by these explanatory paragraphs:

A meeting adjourned from Saturday, was held by the legislative committee of the California Teachers' association, Southern section, Monday afternoon at the association headquarters in the Loew building, Los Angeles, over which Richardson D. White of this city, committee chairman, presided.

At that session resolutions relative to the school budget prepared by Governor Richardson and now before the state legislature, which had been discussed at the Saturday meeting, were adopted as follows:

The resolutions filled one full column and constitute an assault upon the budget system of controlling appropriations of moneys from the state treasury.

The so-called legislative committee (in plain terms it means lobbyists) claims to represent and speak for 9,500 teachers.

The closing paragraph of the resolutions adopted reads as follows:

And be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be sent to the governor, to the members of the legislature, parent-teacher associations, boards of education, chambers of commerce, other civic organizations and the daily press.

It is a strange obsession which possesses these lobbyists that gives them the amazing audacity to appeal to such clubs, organizations and associations as yours in the belief that you will lend aid to this miserable attempt to defeat not only the determination of the governor to put into effect his pledges to the people, but to defeat the action of the people themselves in adopting by an overwhelming majority the budget system. In this connection it is interesting to note how this brazen effrontery to public opinion is viewed by others. The following excerpts are taken from a report by Myra Nye, published in the Los Angeles Times, Saturday, March 10:

"What of the activities of our educators and our teachers who are entering politics as a class in their relation to good citizenship?" asked Mrs. Frank A. Kelly, vice-president of the Republican Study Club, yesterday as she led in a discussion of current politics.

"What of their rebellion against measures asked for and indorsed by the people, of their attempts to gain control of the entire educational system, the legislative, the business branches and indeed the management of the whole matter?"

Mrs. Kelly said she would not hold the club accountable for her sentiments, but that she felt so keenly on the subject she felt impelled to speak. "There are already under way organizations of school-teachers which are illegal, dangerous and opposed to the general welfare."

* * * *

Mrs. Kelly went on to say that she was glad that as large as the number of teachers were in this organization, an even greater number are loyal, law-abiding citizens.

"A quiet inquiry," she said, "discloses the certainty that the majority of the teachers are as loyal citizens as can be found anywhere, who go their way, say nothing and vote as they please." But for the minority to combine to threaten and attempt to coerce the chief executive of the State and of the legislators of California to accede to their demands is a dangerous procedure.

"When Gov. Richardson made public his budget, teachers all over the State, headed by Will C. Wood, enraged at the prospect of a curb upon their extravagance, indulged in a storm of abuse, threats and aspersions which were a discredit to the profession and to the State. The Governor was elected by the people under promise to curtail expenses which threaten the State with bankruptcy. In his budget the schools fare remarkably well. I heard one bright girl teacher say she had taught in the East and been in business there, but nowhere could she see 'as little work for as much pay as teaching in Los Angeles. Nowhere the world over is there anything like it.'"

The club drew up resolutions indorsing the stand of Gov. Richardson in offering the budget and lending him support in his efforts of economy. This was sent in a telegram to the Governor at Sacramento.

In a recent issue of the Los Angeles Times, "The Watchman" made the following interesting and illuminating resume of the political attack on the budget system led by political educators:

"The legislative recess has been greatly enlivened by the political activities of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Will C. Wood. In his attacks on Gov. Richardson and the Governor's economy budget * * * considerably more than a squabble over reduced appropriations is involved. * * * He is doing all in his power to drag the schools of California into politics and, unfortunately for the boys and girls of California, he is succeeding in certain instances. * * * He is seeking to cripple the new State administration before it begins to function and in his efforts he is being aided by every machine politician and disgruntled taxeater whom Gov. Richardson has separated from the State payroll. * * * It is the apparent intention of Mr. Wood to create a machine of his own, recruited and officered by school teachers, principals and superintendents. He has sown discord, suspicion and apprehension throughout the entire State school system in his propagandizing attacks on the Richardson budget of State expenditures and undoubtedly has caused a feeling of uncertainty and discontent in the schools as a whole. This he has done despite the fact that Gov. Richardson has not proposed the reduction of a single teacher's salary, nor reduced support for a single recognized educational function in any high, intermediate or elementary school in California. More than 60 per cent of the budget is for education and * * * it is the new Governor's conviction that every dollar necessary for proper educational facilities in this State should be made available, but that wastefulness and extravagance are unnecessary even for the administration of the schools. In the opinion of thousands of parents and the friends generally of education in this State the reduction of a few dollars here and there in school expenditures will prove far less disastrous to the schools than the building up by Mr. Wood of a powerful clique of pedagogue politicians."

In happy contrast with the menacing resolutions adopted by the lobbyists at their Los Angeles meeting (where at least one of their number was neglecting duties for the special performance of which he draws a handsome salary from public funds raised by taxes paid by citizens of Glendale) Dr. Henry Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Education, one of the foremost educators of the world, in a speech before the Rotary Club at Santa Barbara, Feb. 16, said:

"The expenses of government both in the nation and in the State are increasing beyond the ability of the public to support them, and are reflected in similar extravagance of the individual. The government of California has become one of the most expensive on earth and Gov. Richardson, in making this the central issue of his campaign, did a great public service. He made good his pre-election statement by practical action in boldly cutting the present high cost of government and in stopping the policy of indefinite increase in cost. * * *

"There are a great many people who will agree with Gov. Richardson in theory who will hesitate to give him their support in the actual performance of his great task. Gov. Richardson cannot cut down the expenses of government without cutting off many sources of waste that give salaries to people who would find it hard to earn salaries in the ordinary business of life. It is very difficult to make in the need of those economies that cut off their salaries."

At Orange on Feb. 16, James C. Mills, member of the board of regents of the University of California, addressed the Santa Ana Orange Growers' Association and was applauded vigorously by the 4000 members present. He said in part:

"Gov. Richardson is the only governor who had the courage to put through a real economy budget, one that not only provides sufficient funds for carrying on the essential functions of State government, but also one that deals a deadly blow at non-essential activities. * * * Every essential function would be cared for under its provisions, as also would any emergency, through an emergency fund of $700,000. * * * Gov. Richardson has done his duty well and it is up to us who put him there to stand by him as loyal Americans."

On the same occasion George H. Hecke, State Horticultural Commissioner, made a public address in which he said:

"While the present appropriation might compel abandonment of non-essential activities of the State Agricultural Department, it would not hamper, but rather would further, results of the department by stressing the more important phases of the work. Good rather than harm will result from the economy budget."

He declared that agriculturists throughout the State who feared that quarantine inspection or other important workings of the agricultural department might suffer under the slash could rest at ease.

To add a little humor to this serious melange this dash of spice may be added:

At a luncheon at Sacramento, in honor of the chief executive and members of the legislature a few days ago, Bishop W. H. Moreland, head of the Sacramento diocese of the Episcopal church, said to the governor, "you are having about as much trouble with the legislature as if you were married to it." Then he added in serious vein:

"ECONOMY IS A BEAUTIFUL THEORY AS LONG AS WE ARE NOT REQUIRED TO PRACTICE IT."

In conclusion your attention is invited to letters published in the Glendale Press of March 6 and 9, and The Glendale News of March 9, by our fellow-townsmen, R. S. Person and J. C. Sherer.

CHURCHMEN WILL GREET PREACHER

Evangelist to Be Guest of Presbyterians at Dinner Tonight

About 200 men will gather in the parlors of the Glendale Presbyterian church at 6:30 o'clock tonight at a dinner in honor of Dr. Robert A. Hadden. These men will be the guests of the deacons, trustees and elders, and this gathering will be the opening service of the Hadden evangelistic meeting which will continue for two weeks. Dr. Hadden will deliver an addreses to the men and the Harmony Male Quartette of the Bible Institute will be present and give several numbers.

Love Most Beautiful Thing, Says Pastor

"The Greatest Thing in the World" was the topic of the sermon yesterday morning at the First Lutheran church.

"Love is the most beautiful thing in the world," remarked Dr. H. C. Funk. "When some one gives a glowing account of a noble deed of heroism, we feel a similar impulse arising within our own hearts. An appeal for the relief of human suffering will cause a sympathetic chord to vibrate and the heart is moved with a desire to do something to alleviate the suffering, to help those who are in distreess.

"No man need be ashamed to shed tears of sympathy at the foot of the Cross of Him who suffered for us. Paul, the great theologian, said, "Be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven us."

"Again, love or charity is not puffed up. It is patient and endureth all things. Indeed, in its concern for others it may be entirely unmindful of itself. Highest among the love impulses we find maternal affection, for there is no other impulse so nearly like the love of God."

Shows Passion Play In Illustrated Talk

The Passion Play of Oberammergau was depicted from lantern slides last night at the Congregational church.

Rev. C. M. Calderwood, who witnessed the production of 1910, described its action, its charcaters and the effect that the play had upon its audience.

"Stewardship" was the topic of the Christian Endeavor Service which was led by Jack Levinge of 1630 Wabasso way.

Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah of 520 North Kenwood street was the soloist at the morning service.

LEADS SINGING

Hugo Kirchofer of Hollywood led the singing last night at the First Methodist church.

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

CHURCHES of Glendale held solemn, impressive services yesterday, attended by large crowds. Pastors preached on varied topics and special music was provided by soloists and choirs. Herewith are presented brief excerpts from sermons and, too, other church news:

GARDEN OF EDEN PASTOR'S THEME

It Will Be Restored to Earth, Is Belief of R. W. Parmele

"Where is the Garden of Eden? Was it destroyed at the time of the flood? If not, will it ever be seen on earth again? Or did God make it for only a brief residence upon the earth?" With these inquiries Pastor R. W. Parmele began his sermon last night at the Seventh-day Adventist church. The subject of his discourse was "Will Eden be restored to this earth?"

"It is incompatible with the character of God to teach that His original plan was frustrated by the entrance of the serpent into the Garden of Eden. He designed that beautiful garden to be the home of our first parents and the center of attraction of the whole earth.

"Because of the entrance of sin, God did not destroy the Garden. On the contrary, he simply expelled man from its blissful bowers, and placed an angel to guard its entrance. It was not allowed to grow up to weeds, nor to be drowned in the waters of the flood.

Ray of Comfort

"As Jesus realized the nearness of the time of his crucifiction, he said to his disciples, 'Little children yet a little while I am with you. Whither I go ye cannot come.' At this the ardent Peter asked whither he was going. Jesus replied that he could not follow him 'now, but thou shalt follow me afterward.' Though this gave a ray of comfort, still his countenance showed a troubled heart, so Jesus explained fully: 'Let not your heart be troubled. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself.'

"The place that he went to prepare, Paul tells us is a city, and this city is described to us in Revelations. In this scripture John tells us its size, and even tells of its construction. But the most precious point of all is stated in verse 3 of the 21st chapter, which says that 'The Throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him.' Then we read that the water of life in the form of a river flows out from the Throne of God, and that growing as a banyan tree, there is the tree of life, with a trunk on each side of the river. Note that the text does not say 'A tree of life,' but 'THE', and identical tree. It is thus clearly seen that that portion at least of the Garden of Eden has been preserved. And that tree is now the central tree in the New Jerusalem.

Original Plan

"Then we are told that John saw that City 'coming down from God out of heaven.' It thus becomes evident that the Garden of Eden has been preserved, and that it is again to be planted upon this earth, but within the jasper walls of the New Jerusalem. When this earth shall have been cleansed from sins and its consequences, and the New Jerusalem containing that original Garden of Eden, including the tree of life shall have been planted here, then God's original plan in the creation of this earth shall be met.

"Then from 'one new moon to another and from one Sabbath to another, shall all flesh come to worship before' God in the New Jerusalem. They will come on the Sabbath because it is, has been, and through all eternity will be God's day of rest and worship; and they come on the new moon, to get a fresh supply of fruit from that life-giving tree."

The Sunday night services will continue indefinitely. The subject for next Sunday night will be "Where are the Dead?"

Need of Fresh Vision Is Told by Minister

"Every true life begins with a vision!" exclaimed Rev. C. M. Calderwood yesterday morning at the Congregational church.

"We need a fresh vision of God," he continued. "An old one is not enough. We can have visions of God's holiness, majesty, love and of sin. Strong convictions come through divine visions.

"In the time of crashing monarchies and dethroned kings and rising democracies and social crises we need a vision of God. We need power far beyond our own to direct us through the confusion. A Godless world is a world without hope. The world's salvation is dependent upon its knowledge of Him and its obedience to Him.

"We want to serve the world with its great needs. Its greatest need is God. Our work is to carry the consciousness of God into the world. But how can we do it if we do not know God and how can we know God without a vision of Him?"

Cities Without Walls Is Livingston's Topic

"Cities Without Walls" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning by Rev. J. C. Livingston at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church. Mrs. J. W. Cotton of 1137 San Rafael road sang a solo.

Missionary Tells of Work In Brazil Field

Rev. M. Dickie, who for the past thirty-five years has been a missionary of the Methodist Church South, in Brazil, occupied the pulpit yesterday at the Broadway Methodist church. Mr. Dickie's address was most interesting as he detailed many of the incidents of his experiences in the Latin-American republic.

At the time Mr. Dickie began his labors in Brazil there were but two other Methodist missionaries in that country, while today there is a membership of about seventy-five thousand, and three annual conferences established.

When Mr. Dickie first began his labors in that country he experienced strong opposition on the part of the government officials, who were under the domination of another church; had trouble in getting his marriages recognized as official. Also it was difficult to have burials in the cemeteries, except in that certain portion of the cemetery where criminals and suicides had to be buried—the section that had not been "blessed." However, those jealousies have been largely overcome, the cemeteries are now owned by the municipalities and no discriminations are made, and there is more harmony existing between the different denominations. Mr. Dickie praised our national prohibition law very highly, and noted the contrast in New Orleans—when he was there before saloons were abolished he saw drunken men lying on the streets on every side about the wharves, but during his stay of ten days some months ago he failed to see even one drunken man. Mr. Dickie loves his work, and the Brazilian people, and predicts that with the large number of immigrants going there, and with the carrying out of plans of progress as now outlined by the people of that country, it will not be long before she will be one of the foremost nations of the world.

Rev. Soper Forced to Abandon Eastern Trip

Rev. Julius Soper of 1305 North Maryland avenue, who had planned to leave Tuesday, March 13, for Washington and other eastern points, is announcing with deep regret that owing to the precarious state of his health he has for the present given up the trip that he has been holding in pleasant anticipation for some time. This year marks the fiftieth anniversary of several interesting events in his life. In March, 1873, he was ordained minister of the gospel by Bishop R. S. Foster during the session of the Baltimore conference at Hagerstown, Md. This is the oldest conference in American Methodism. He anticipated attending this conference this year when it convenes in April.

May 15, 1873, he was graduated from Drew Theological Seminary at Madison, N. J., and was expecting to attend commencement at that institution the coming May. He is also disappointing many old friends of a church congregation where he presided forty years ago, and where he was expected to preach again during his visit east. It is a great disappointment to him at the present time, but he still anticipates making the trip at a future date.

Rector Pleads for More Faith In God

"It is a real tragedy that in the lives of so many people today God seems to play such a small part," said Rv. Philip K. Kemp yesterday morning at St. Mark's Episcopal church.

"When it is to our own interest, we atttribute certain acts as the judgment of God upon sinful men. Again at other times we say that it was purely accidental. It would perhaps be well, if we could have more of the simple faith of the peasants of the Lipari islands, who, when Stromboli recently became active again, fell on their knees in prayer to God for deliverance.

"The true scientist is as God-fearing a man as you or I. May we feel again the power of God to guide and control our lives Let us but remember that this was the interpretation of Jpesus' saying: 'Apart from my Father I can do nothing.' He lived and died in the presence of His heavenly Father. The beauty, simplicity and nobility of His life had their origin in that he was continually lifting up His eyes and indeed His whole spiritual being to the hills of God. May we learn to do the same!"

Pastor Pleads for Breadth With Depth

"A Place of Broad Rivers" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church. The text was: "The glorious Lord will be unto us a place of broad rivers."

"This special expression 'Glorious Lord,' is an expression of highest praise and confidence," stated Rev. W. E. Edmonds. "The 'Glorious Lord' proposes to do something for His people—to be a 'Place of broad rivers.'

"Broad to us generally means shallow. Oh, let us not be broad in that way, too broad! God's program is both broad and deep. There is a good deal of narrowness in the world, of narrow vision. How far can you see?

"God wants to lead us out into 'A place of broad rivers.' There is a certain type that 'broad river' suggests, peace, the perfect peace of God. The world today needs this more than anything else. Not a man on earth has a program that can meet it."

REVIEW VIRTUES, FAULTS OF GIRLS

Young Women Form Subject of Communications at Christian Church

"If God ever made a perfect creature, it was woman."

This admission by a member of the sterner sex contained the nub of the discussion last night at the Central Christian church on the subject of "Young Women—Their Virtues and Faults."

However, as one bachelor pointed out, this epigram commences with an "if."

"Young women overlook their great work of influencing young men toward higher ideals," remarked one communication read by Rev. C. A. Cole. "As for influence, our girls are too easy. Anyone can attract them or claim their companionship."

Pleasure was denounced as follows: "Some girls are looking into the future and others are thinking only of the present and the joy to be obtained without too much risk of a bad name."

Although it was reported by one communication that "women are more intelligent than men," another retorted: "The growing independence of women is more and more setting up the false standard that woman's place is no longer in the home but side by side with man. To this kind, the home is the place to come when there is no other place to go."

"Sweet unreasonableness," according to another male, "may be the result of a girl 'seeing through you' and her intuition, a sixth sense."

"Dolling up" was scored and underscored by the masculine critics. It seems that some of them like it and some of them don't. So there you are!

Wants More Pep

"Show more pep!" suggested one booster for the fair sex. "Don't dress your hair like your ancient ancestors. Show some style. There's no crime in looking up to date. Also, there is no crime in showing a little color in the face.

"Physical culture goes hand in hand with beauty. I think it is a woman's as well as a man's duty, to look the best possible. I don't mean that you must make-up like a movie queen, but please use a little more accessories. Paint preserves and beautifies a house, why not a girl or woman?"

However, another girl fancier took up the tale from a different point of view by remarking: "I like girls, not flappers. I called on a young lady one evening and we decided to go to church. We had hardly been seated by the usher until she opened up a box, a vanity case, and proceeded to daub some paint here and some powder there. Then she took out a small mirror and viewed herself from several different angles. When she had completed her toilet, she drew forth a pencil and pad and wrote me a note. Thinking I must be complete, I answered it and we spent the evening writing notes. So, now when I want to hear a sermon I go alone."

Somebody in the audience at this point was heard to mutter something about another case of Eve in the Garden of Eden.

This poor fellow seems to be having a terrible time for he says: "I met a young lady who seemed very refined and to care for the higher, better things in life. I admired her greatly. When all of a sudden, she appeared on the scene with bobbed hair. 'Nothin' doin,' says I."

And so, it goes.

Credit Bible Account Of World's Creation

"The Creation and the End of the World" was the topic for consideration yesterday morning by the members of the Redeemer Evangelical Lutheran church.

"We believe in the inspiration of the Holy Scriptures," remarked Rev. H. O. Kringel. "Naturally, we also believe in the creation and end of the world as set forth in the Bible. Some people say: 'The Lord will never come.' However, we are to learn the object and reason of His seeming tarrying. The Lord, according to Peter, is not slack concerning His promise as some men count slackness but is long-suffering to us and all people, not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance and faith in Jesus Christ. Although men considered Him slack, nevertheless it is patience and long-suffering toward all sinners.

"We frequently hear people criticising divine truth and see them picking at it, endeavoring to ruin it like a disobedient child the flower, tearing leaf after leaf away until nothing remains."

Christian Education Is Winnard's Theme

"Christian Education" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Tropico Presbyterian church.

"Approximately 20,000,000 pupils are in the public schools," remarked Dr. James F. Winnard. "For eight months of the year they are subjecting themselves to the process called education. It is easy to see that there is no greater factor in nation building than the public school system. Our national welfare depends on the intelligence and virtue of our citizens. It behooves us, then, to see that those qualities are instilled into the minds and hearts of our young people.

"Christian education should be begun in the home, of course. Then the church is naturally expected to impart a knowledge of the fundamentals of Christian principles.

"The greatest factor that may be used in the public school for building character and training for citizenship is the Bible. Unfortunately, this is excluded from the course on instruction in the public schools of our own state. The simple teaching of the Bible is no more a sectarian matter than is the teaching of civil government a matter of partisan politics."

Spread of Gospel Is Mightiest of Miracles

Foreign missions were discussed yesterday morning at the Central Christian church.

"A hundred years ago there were but 100 missionaries in all heathen lands,' remarked Rev. C. A. Cole. 'Now there are 19,000 Protestant missionaries and 80,000 native teachers and evangelists

"A hundred years ago the Bible was unknown to seven-eighths of the world. Now it is translated in 475 languages and dialects.

"A hundred years ago the world was very big. Its distances were unmeasured, its vast regions unexplored. Science was yet slumbering and the highways of trade unbuilt. What a change!

"As surely as Christ came in the fullness of time for the initiation of His Kingdom, so the fullness of time for the possession of the earth for him has fallen on these later days. The opening of the heathen lands to the gospel has been one of the mightiest miracles of the ages."

Eastern Pastor In Local Baptist Pulpit

Dr. B. S. Hudson of Portland, Maine, occupied the pulpit yesterday morning at the Baptist church.

Robert Robertson of Vancouver was present at the morning service and spoke in regard to the new church.

The evening sermon was delivered by Rev. E. E. Ford, who took as his topic, "A Quartet of Faith."

Creative Thought Is Fount of Man's Power

The subject of "Creative Thought" for Sunday morning's lecture, gave Dr. Fareed an excellent oppotunity to express himself at his best. It was the consensus of opinion of those who heard him, that it was the most interesting discourse he had delivered since he has occupied the platform of the New Thought Center.

The whole theme was built around and centered on the Great Within—the cave where the Higher Self dwells, which no one else can approach—the citadel—the Holy of Holies, where one may commune with his God.

He likened man to a book which he is born with, and the pages are written by the thoughts and acts of life. In these days, when the study of psychology is attracting the whole world, every one should be anxious to leave as his record an improved edition of the book given at birth. Perhaps some of the chapters were written by over-indulgent parents, who knew nothing of the great laws ruling mental action, but with the present understanding those chapters may be changed. This is where an understanding of the wonderful power of creative thought spells self-mastery and makes the plus man or the plus woman.

In any proposed enterprise capital is the most important factor, and in creative thought one's capital is to find his own center—his own divine self. Unless that center is found one cannot have the power commanded by God, neither can one meet well the battles of life without knowing his center. It is understanding this that makes a man great and gives him the capacity to rule and direct those less developed. It takes time and practice to find this, but it is well worth the effort, and those who have found "the secret place of the most High," know it is the only lasting and eternal thing that man possesses. God could not have given the race a greater heritage than the power to direct thought, for with this double-edged sword one can mould and shape his character according to his understanding of that power.

Enjoyable Dinner

The members of Ambulance Company 158, of which three Glendale men are officers, enjoyed their annual dinner Saturday night at a hotel in Los Angeles. Forty-four were present. Guests coming from Seattle, San Francisco, Santa Barbara and San Diego.

Glendale men were Faris Brown, president; Guy Pixley, sergeant at arms; Mr. Ross, one of vice-presidents. Faris Brown was re-elected president by popular vote, this being his third term in that office. This is the only meeting held during the year by the organization.

Community Party

Tonight at 7:45 o'clock is the hour set for the meeting of the recreational department of the Glendale Community Service organization. The place is the gymnasium of the Union High School.

This party is a public affair, for all ages, and a large attendance is desired. A very fine program has been prepared by the committee in charge consisting of music, games, fun and frolic. Your co-operation and presence will be heartily appreciated.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Shower Compliment

Mrs. Alvin Brown, a recent bride, was the guest of honor on Saturday afternoon at a miscellaneous shower, given by the Misses Leona and Eleanor Brice of 304 North Kenwood street. Mrs. Brown was formerly Miss Josephine Emery.

The rooms were decorated with a profusion of sweet peas, lilies and jonquils. The favors were pretty pink baskets filled with candy easter eggs.

During the afternoon the guests were requested to write receipts which were then tied with white ribbon and handed to the bride. They were also requested to write on white cards, "How to Treat a Husband," and when these were read they caused considerable merriment. The judges, who were the mother of the bride and the mother of the groom, awarded the prize which was a beautiful luncheon set, to Miss Esther Jones who presented it to the bride.

Then the guests were each given a pink candy easter egg, the bride's being a pink egg shell which contained a beautiful poem telling her to follow the path at the end of which she would find a nest filled with eggs. The path which started in the music room and ended in the dining room was strewn with pink roses, lilies and sweet peas and greenery. At the end of the path was a mammoth Easter egg made of pink crepe paper and tied with white ribbons with an opening at the side from which the bride found many beautiful and useful gifts.

Later in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The invited guests were the Misses Anna Merriken, Eunice Caldwell, Agnes Caldwell, Peggy McGuire, Eva Woodside, Olive-Bell Emery, Esther Jones, Ruth Morton, Mrs. E. U. Emery, Mrs. Morton, Mrs. Owen C. Emery, Mrs. Jack Eaton, Mrs. Herbert Thickett, Mrs. Phoebe Borthick, Mrs. A. L. Bryant, Mrs. Ortha Brown, Mrs. Will Richardson, Mrs. S. Radcliff, Mrs. Max Cates, Mrs. Flax, Mrs. Ed. Kirk, Mrs. Clarke Christy, Mrs. Louis Torrey, Mrs. Timothy Mrs. C. P. Brice, the guest of honor, Mrs. Alvin Brown, and the hostesses, Misses Leona and Eleanor Brice.

Business Women

Glendale's Business and Professional Women's club will hold its regular monthly business meeting, Tuesday evening, March 13, at the club rooms. Business of great importance will be brought before the members at this time and every member is urged to be present.

Preceding the meeting a St. Patrick's dinner will be served at 6:15 by the new February members. The new March members will be special guests. Phone your reservations to Dr. Laura Brown, Glen. 1000-J, not later than Tuesday afternoon.

A dollar social on March 27 will take the place of the regular social meeting. Each member of the club is requested to earn $1 for the club before this date. A prize will be awarded to the member who has earned her dollar in the most unique way.

The club is steadily growing in numbers, there being nine new members admitted at the executive meeting held last Tuesday evening.

All club members are urged to make reservations for the County Federation dinner which will be given at Los Angeles on March 28.

Fiftieth Wedding

Their golden wedding was celebrated very quietly by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dennis, recently at their home, 124 West Park avenue. A large number of relatives and friends in the east sent hearty congratulations. Ten years ago, six years before they came to California, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary in Chelsea, Mass., with a large circle of friends present. On their fiftieth anniversary an informal dinner was served to two old friends and their daughter, Miss Ethel Dennis, who resides with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis have three sons, all in the east. Joseph Dennis resides in Boston, Charles Dennis in Brooklyn and Harold Dennis in Bogota, New Jersey. Mr. Dennis is a member of the G. A. R. post in Glendale.

Meet on Tuesday

The regular meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Casa Verdugo Methodist-Episcopal church will be held Tuesday night, March 13, at the home of Mrs. Robert D. Jones, 322 East Dryden street. The program will be provided by the young people. The president, Mrs. E. E. Masters, will preside.

At Santa Monica

The members of the Wilson Avenue Needlecraft club enjoyed an unusually pleasant meeting last week when they motored to Santa Monica and surprised two of their fellow members, Mrs. Eda Lord of 408 West Wilson avenue and Miss Laura B. Taylor who are spending a few weeks at the Elkhorn apartments. The visiting members were supplied with a nice picnic lunch and a delightful outing was enjoyed at the beach city. Group pictures were taken for souvenirs of the pleasant occasion.

Members of this club are Mrs. E. E. Haw, Mrs. John McGregor, Mrs. L. H. Beck, Miss Olive Beck, Mrs. C. S. McKee, Mrs. F. H. Stahl, Mrs. G. L. Forester, Mrs. F. L. Cheney, Mrs. J. K. Todd, Mrs. H. H. Pettit, Mrs. Olive Kee, Mrs. Eda Lord and Miss Laura Taylor. Mrs. John McGregor will entertain the club with a St. Patrick's party at their next meeting, March 16. The members are also completing plans to entertain at dinner, when their husbands will be honored guests.

Birthday Surprise

A delightful surprise party was given last Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Grassell, of 534 North Maryland avenue, for Mrs. Grassell's mother, Mrs. A. M. Patterson, in honor of Mrs. Patterson's birthday.

About twenty-five members of the family were gathered at Mrs. Grassell's home, in the dimly-lighted living room, when Mrs. Patterson arrived, and as the illumination was turned on the whole company rose and greeted her with "Happy birthday!"

During the evening the gathering was entertained with a delightful program of songs and music, by Miss Kathrine Crow, a student of a Los Angeles school of expression.

When the refreshments were served a birthday cake, lighted with seventy-three candles, was placed before Mrs. Patterson, who cut the cake, giving each guest a slice with a candle, as a souvenir of the occasion.

Mothers' Meeting

The regular monthly board meeting of the Mothers' club of the Acacia avenue school was held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, at the school house.

It was decided that a vaudeville show will be put on at the high school, April 6. This entertainment will be under the direction of Mrs. Garden, instructor of dramatics of the Polytechnic high school of Los Angeles, and some of her pupils will participate in the show.

The committee in charge consists of Mrs. W. D. Alexander, chairman; Mrs. Robert Lord, Mrs. Lockwood and Mrs. Torrey.

It was moved to adopt a resolution protesting against the cut in the school budget by Governor Richardson.

Proceeds of $7 from the sale of the old newspapers were reported. This sum will go toward purchasing a stereopticon machine for the school.

STANFORD GRADS PLAN RECEPTION

Glee Club Members to Be P.-T. A. Guests Following Concert, April 2

Leland Stanford university "grads" and ex-students are preparing a live reception for the university men's glee club Monday night, April 2, when they will give a concert in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse auditorium under the auspices of the Central Avenue Parent-Teacher association. Mrs. D. F. Reichard, president of the association, is a Stanford alumna, and she is greatly gratified over securing a concert date with the club.

In announcing the concert Mrs. Reichard states that she is anxious to get in touch with all Stanford people in Glendale and asks that they call her at Glendale 2141-R.

Yukon Gold and Silver Output Shows Increase

DAWSON, Y. T., March 12.—It is reported that the Keno Mill silver camp, which last year shipped $750,000 worth of silver ore, will produce this winter about $1,500,000, the greater part of which will come from two mines.

Last year's gold yield from the Yukon Territory is estimated at $1,000,000. The total gold produced in the Yukon to date is $210,000,000.

Glenwood Gas Ranges

Make Cooking Easy

They are the product of New England's largest and best known stove foundry.

They are designed by makers of long experience. They weigh more, are put together better and burn less gas.

The CASTINGS are wonderfully smooth and easy to clean.

The LININGS of the OVEN have excellent wearing qualities that will stand the intense heat and last much longer than the ordinary kind.

They are HANDSOME, convenient, and mechanically right—no modern features lacking.

We are offering as a special during our removal sale a limited number of the above ranges at the very low price of $39.50 installed.

This range regularly sells for $47.85.

We likewise are closing out several broken lines of appliances, room heaters, water heaters and gas ranges, preparatory to moving to our new location at 126 North Maryland avenue.

ASK INCREASE IN BOND ALLOTMENT

Meeting at Columbus Avenue School to Discuss Coming Election

Announcement is made of an important meeting of the West Glendale Improvement association, to be held at the Columbus Avenue school Tuesday night, March 13, at 8 o'clock, at which the forthcoming school bond election will be discussed in its relation to West Glendale.

John R. Grey, a member of the association and a Glendale realtor, will show why West Glendale should receive more than the proposed allottment of money from the bonds to be voted upon March 15.

Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, will present his views on the subject, stating why he thinks the bond issue necessary and the reason for the present allotment to West Glendale.

George Karr, chairman of the civics committee of the Chamber of Commerce, has been invited to speak on the subject of West Glendale's affiliation with the Glendale chamber.

Motor bus transportation will be discussed if time allows.

R. Streit, president of the West Glendale Improvement association, urges all members to attend Tuesday night's meeting, and to bring with them a neighbor.

$250,000 IN CASH IN ESCROW FUND

Doble Steam Motors Co. to Enlarge Facilities for Making Autos

Declaring that finished cars are now leaving the San Francisco factory of the Doble Steam Motors Corporation on a regular schedule, Fiscal Agent F. G. Cox gave the assurance today that the quarter-million dollar cash escrow fund required by the Corporation Commissioner to be in hand by May 1 is available now.

"Arrangements are now being made to employ this fund in increasing personnel and plant facilities, and its release will be secured immediately," said Mr. Cox today. The policy of the Doble Company is to give its stockholders the first opportunity to purchase cars, and then to begin the filling or orders from outsiders.

One of the most startling achievements in body design left the Pasadena plant of the Walter M. Murphy coach works recently when the first body on the quarter-million dollar order recently placed by the Doble Steam Motors Corporation was delivered to Abner Doble, the inventor, who proudly drove the smart four-passenger de luxe sport phaeton to the San Francisco auto show, for its world premiere.

These de luxe bodies are said to be the last word in coach equipment, and represent months of designing and planning to place them far in advance of the present day standards. In some respects the de luxe Dobles partake of the luxurious appearance of the Rolls-Royce, with many improvements in furniture and fittings.

100,000 Mile Guarantee

"To design and build bodies which will harmonize with the luxurious transportation features of the Doble Steam Motor Car is no easy task," said Fiscal Agent F. G. Cox, at his office in Loew's State Building, Los Angeles, "and it speaks volumes for the abilities of the Murphy organization that Abner Doble decided to place in their hands the construction of bodies for our $9000 de luxe model.

"The de luxe Doble is guaranteed for 100,000 luxurious, silent and trouble-free miles. It has a four-cylinder, cross-compound, double-acting engine such as is used only in the giant locomotives of the New York Central to speed its fastest express trains.

"The Doble starts from cold in twenty seconds under 750 pounds pressure by the mere turn of a switch and advance of the throttle. It has no self starter, no gears to shift, no clutch to slip, no carbon to remove, no valves to grind, no oil pump to fail, no scale to remove, no pilot light, no frequent stops for water, and will operate with equal efficiency on gasoline, kerosene or distillate without adjustment, consuming only one pint of oil in five hundred miles. The Doble glides gracefully from a standstill to a speed of eighty miles an hour at the touch of the throttle."

Credit Men Will Meet In Glendale May 25th

At the meeting of the California Association of Retail Secretaries that was held in Los Angeles Saturday, it was decided to hold the convention of the association in Glendale on May 25, the day on which the Merchants' Industrial Exposition and Automobile Show will open, according to a statement issued this morning by Frank H. Pilling, secretary of the Glendale Credit Association.

The California Association of Retail Secretaries represents all of the credit associations of the state, and the holding of their meeting in Glendale is regarded as an event of importance in the industrial life of the city.

World's largest hotel, with 3,000 rooms, will be built in Chicago.

'LOG ROLLING' IS PERSON'S CHARGE

Scores Campaign Methods of Supporters of School Bond Issue

Editor The Evening News:—How about the school bond election next Thursday?

Everybody knows how appropriations by legislative bodies have been made from time immemorial—how they are evolved, and revolved. The process has been long known as "log rolling."

Everybody condemns it as "unscientific," "unbusiness-like," etc., and many consider it basically corrupt, yet nobody has found an effective remedy for it. The budget system is the most effective check that has been devised, but even that is only palliative in actual practice.

However, the "log-rolling" process of extracting money from the people is objectionable only when it is done at a distance or by some body or organization with which we are not connected or only remotely associated in responsibility. At least that is the attitude of most of us.

Balks at Schedule

To make a local application of these observations let us take the present problem of financing our pressing requirements for additional school facilities in this beautiful and rapidly advancing city. We are confronted with a "schedule of uses of proposed bond issue" on which, in its entirety we must vote "yes" or "no."

This schedule said to have been prepared originally by one man, was "approved" by the board of education; slightly, if at all, modified in secret session by a committee of fifteen appointed by the chairman of said board of education; then submitted for approval or rejection in its entirety to a farcical mass meeting attended by less than 1 per cent of the qualified electors of the city. A few vigorous protests were made against this program and at this point the managers of this $450,000 appropriation bill took fright at their own rough-riding tactics, and adjourned the "mass meeting" for a week. Meantime they discovered additional resources and returned a bill augmented to $500,000. The second "mass meeting" was packed to carry through the program with less show of brutal strength, and citizens present who had the temerity to question the wisdom of the proposed distribution, had opportunity to offer amendments to the schedule. This opportunity was afforded only because the "log rolling" element was firmly in the saddle and sure of its strength to reject any modification of the cut and dried program.

Thus this appropriation bill of half a million dollars was framed in Glendale—not Sacramento, Harrisburg, Albany or Washington, D. C., and next Thursday those of our qualified electors that are not prohibited by the peculiar laws governing elections relating to school matters in California, will be confronted with the serious responsibility of voting "yes" or "no" on the question of creating an additional bonded indebtedness for urgent requirements for additional school facilities and at the same time, and inseparably connected with the proposiion, they must, by their "yes" or "no" vote on the bond issue, approve or disapprove in its entirety the proposed distribution of this vast fund as per "schedule" prepared as set forth above.

$35,000 for Public Hall

There is little doubt that the proposed appropriation of $50,000 for the Columbus avenue school, with an enrollment of 577 (1) pupils, has the approval of everybody at all acquainted with conditions in that district. On the other hand there is no doubt a vast majority of our citizens opsed to spending $107,830 on the Glendale Avenue Intermediate with an enrollment of 293 (1) pupils. This is a new school built last year at a cost of $92,500. In this proposed $107,850 for this district, with 293 students, is included $35,000 for an auditorium which the chairman of the "advisory committee of fifteen" publicly admitted was for the benefit of the adult population in that section of the city—to serve as a community hall, for concerts, political and other public assemblies. In this same appropriation of $107,850 to be spent on a brand new plant there is also included the sum of $15,000 "for lots." Thus this plant will have cost more than $200,000 within a period of two years from the time its foundation was laid. If this item of $107,850 for one school on which $92,500 has already been expended, had to stand or fall on its individual merits, the voters would reject it next Thursday with as much zest and unanimity as they swatted the proposition last fall to add $350,000 to the high school plant for which they had only recently voted almost unanimously a bond issue of $600,000.

Masterful Campaign

But thanks to the masterful manner in which the campaign for this bond issue has been conducted, the voter must approve $107,850 with its $35,000 auditorium if he wants to make funds available for the most pressing necessities for Columbus and other schools in scarcely less distress. Also proposition No. 14, $30,000, "site in the northwest," must go up or down with the $35,000 auditorium in the southeast, notwithstanding the northwest is practically barren of the necessities in school accommodations and there is already an auditorium at the Wilson avenue and East Broadway schools, and soon there will be another in the new high schcol, all in close proximity to the Glendale Avenue school with its $35,000 auditorium.

But "what about it?" Why discuss such matters at the eleventh hour of a campaign which has been conducted ex-parte and in such manner as to make one who questions the course to pursue next Thursday almost doubt if he is not the only person in Glendale in a quandary how to vote. This masterful campaign reminds me of conditions which once characterized the situation at a national convention for the nomination of a candidate for president. One of the candidates was "pitted against the field" and his only chance of success was for his managers to create the belief among delegates that he was a sure winner, and thus insure the "band wagon vote" on the first ballot. There were many delegations which were for him if he did not need them, but they were never able to learn their united strength until after the first ballot was taken and the candidate for whom they voted but did not want had been "gloriously nominated" and "widely acclaimed." And so next Thursday a bond issue of $500,000 will be voted upon the city because everybody seems to be for it, though very few want it with the scandalous distribution of its proceeds as pre-arranged by the log-rolling process which we unanimously condemn in congress and legislatures.

Voters Indifferent

Query: Is popular government a failure? Are "we, the people," so impotent that we cannot direct the business of properly, efficiently and economically conducting the affairs relating to the administration of our local and most intimate public business? No, it is not impotence, it is indifference. We have the power but don't exercise it.

"The burnt child dreads the fire." More bond issues are even now headed this way. Knowledge of the wasteful expenditure of $100,000 of this bond issue may serve to arouse us for the next election. But the masterful politics in which strategy, psychology, dire necessity, patriotic sentiment, pride in local institutions, etc., etc., have all been played upon in this campaign, will be resorted to next time, also, and with the same degree of success unless we have more inquiring minds in the community and a larger disposition to take an active part in shaping our own affairs.

Meanwhile let us ponder well the words of Governor Richardson in his inaugural address:

"Politicians in the guise of educators have squandered the people's money with a lavish hand and have denounced advocates of thrift as enemies of education."

A great political organization has been built up which has cost the people an immense sum, but has added little to the value of education given school children. The laws have been cunningly amended so that supervisors, school boards and boards of education have little control over the expenditures of school money and hence cannot check extravagance.

"The expenditures of school money must be put on a business basis and the schools must not only teach but practice thrift.

"Educators should be left in control of educational matters, but sound business men should be in control of expenditures."

ANCIENT, MODERN JESTS ARE TOLD

Solons Unbend at Luncheon In Honor of Members Of Legislature

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 12.—Stories old or new, we all like stories. At least that was the assumption of speakers at an inter-club luncheon given in honor of the members of the state legislature here.

Governor Richardson led off with the humorous crack, "I have about decided it should not be called a Richardson budget, but a Wood budget, which ought to make it easy to cut." Nothing like an old saw in that, is there?

Speaker Frank Merriam of the assembly always has one old yarn and one new one for every speech. We will inflict the old one on you first:

A man went to his bank for a loan. Instead of referring the matter, the banker said, "I feel inclined to give you the money, but first tell me which one of my eyes is glass." The borrower gazed at him a minute and replied, "The left one." "How did you guess it?" queried the banker. "It seemed to be the most sympathetic," was the answer.

Burglars In Senate

A member of the assembly was awakened by his wife the other night, according to Mr. Merriam. "John, there is a burglar in the house," she whispered. "No, no burglars in the house. They're all in the senate."

Senator Slater voiced the comment that it was a rotten joke.

It took Bishop W. H. Moreland to put the legislators on the pan, however, and he picked on Speaker Merriam first. He said it was a matter of economy to let the speaker's bald pate radiate the rays of sunlight instead of resorting to artificial illumination.

"Economy, like the Christian religion, is fine in theory, but how few of us practice it," said the gentleman of the cloth. "It is not how well we can live within our incomes, but how difficult it is to live without."

He then commended the governor on his sincerity in the economy program, adding "the people cry for the sack to be tied a little tighter and then they squeal when the purse strings pinch."

Bishop's Comeback

The bishop concluded his remarks with the story that a layman who had beaten him at golf pertinently remarked: "You will be able to get back at me finally when you read the burial service over my body." To which the divine replied, "No, you will still be in the hole while I am out of it."

Lieut. Governor Young, in an inspiring speech on service, said he was sure that the Sacramento paper which used the headline some 15 years ago, "Thank God the Legislature Is Gone," would not do so this term.

On the side, the legislature will have to go some to get away from Sacramento and many of the members already are planning to move from their home districts upon return.

Strange old world, isn't it?

Speaking casually with Mrs. Nellie Brewer Pierce on the subject of state revenue, your correspondent was informed by her that it's too bad there are not a few more million dollars to spread around in the various institutions and departments. "But where is the money going to come from for all the things the people want done?" she inquired rather hopelessly.

Nobody seems to know and it may be that the appropriations may call for a special session on revenue and taxation unless an ad valorem tax is slapped on the poor property owners, if poor they be.

Senator L. L. Dennett of Modesto does not believe that the great growth of certain sections of the state is healthy. Perhaps that is typical of the spirit of Modesto, but if it had the growth of Glendale, for instance, he might think otherwise.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Georgians claim that Dr. Crawford Long, a Georgian, and not Dr. Morton of Boston, was the discoverer of the anaesthetic ether, writes H. C. Hamilton, Atlanta correspondent.

TOMORROW—England has been under the shadow of various "war scares" for the last six months, writes David M. Church, but the people seem to have become accustomed to such conditions and are not worried.

By H. C. HAMILTON
For International News Service

ATLANTA, March 12.—A Boston dentist, Dr. T. W. G. Morton, holds an honored niche in the hall of fame at the University of New York and is erroneously credited with the discovery of ether as an anaesthetic for use in surgical operations, according to Georgians, and Georgia intends to do something about it.

The real discoverer of ether was Dr. Crawford W. Long a Georgia M. D., and the first operation performed painlessly under the influence of the sulphuric distillate was by Dr. Long, in Cobb county, Ga., his supporters say, four and a half years before Dr. Morton heard of ether and used it in dental work.

Many yarns are told of the prowess of Dr. Long with ether, among which is a tale that the stupefying fumes were first used as a sort of exhilarant, and that its use as an anaesthetic was suggested, not by the physician, but by a youthful patient, who, fearing the pain of an operation on his nose, agreed to submit if Dr. Lane would use the ether that previously had been used only on larks.

Dr. Joseph Jacob, of Atlanta, who knew Dr. Long intimately for many years prior to the latter's death, is behind the movement to place Dr. Long on record as the actual discoverer of one of civilization's greatest boons.

"Twenty years ago," Dr. Jacobs commented recently, "the president of the United States asked the state legislature to designate the two Georgians greatest in the state's history. The first name proposed and unanimously approved was that of Dr. Crawford W. Long. The state of Georgia was entitled to representation in the National Hall of Statuary in Washington, but for twenty years her place has been vacant. She is the only one among the thirteen original states that has not representation in the hall. I cannot believe that Georgia will permit this great distinction of one of the state's most famous sons to go unrecognized by the nation while the enterprising East places a usurper in his position."

Dr. Jacobs has organized the Crawford W. Long Memorial association, and through it will start a drive to gain recognition for Dr. Long. The association, he said, has raised about $5000 in subscriptions and pledges to a fund that will be used to carry on the work of the body. This is about half the amount needed. Physicians, druggists, and persons engaged in similar pursuits, have donated the greatest sums to the fund.

Dr. Long was born in Danielsville, Ga., November 1, 1815. He first practiced medicine in Jefferson, Ga., and later in Athens, Ga. Following his first use of ether as an anaesthetic for surgical operations, Dr. Long employed the drug in obstetrical practice and he performed many amputations while employing it.

In 1852 Dr. Long read a report of his use of ether to the Georgia Medical society, having already published it by word of mouth among physicians in this section.

A large oil painting of Dr. Long has been placed in the Georgia Capitol building among paintings of other distinugished Georgians. This portrait was presented the state by Dr. Martin Sims of New York, in 1872, who recognized Dr. Long as discoverer of ether long before recognition was accorded Dr. Morton. In addition to this recognition of his services to humanity a monument to Dr. Long stands in Jefferson, Ga., a granite monument stands in Athens, and the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Loug's alma mater, has recognized him by erection of a bronze tablet.

AFRICAN JUNGLES LURE GIRL

Eager To Return To Scene Of Her Conquests

Miss Martha Miller

By MARGERY REX
For International News Service

NEW YORK, March 12.—Central Africa is a great rolling country, much like Wisconsin, for example. And an elephant grazing on Congo meadows is no more strange to the view that an amiable Holstein doing the same thing in Waukesha county. The pachyderm, like any other creature, is neither preposterous nor awe-inspiring, "chez lui," that is, in his native element, with all his "props" about him.

Yet even the stuffed ones at New York's Museum of Natural History always make our timid heart turn around once or twice for luck; while on the several occasions that we have done stories about the circus we have been at great pains not to write anything unfavorable about the elephant, for they are supposed never to forget.

Africa, though, has a tremendous lure, one variety of which Cynthia Stockley has often indicated in her fascinating stories about events on the veldts. Aside from that, it is able to call back from the luxuries of such civilizations as Manhattan affords a girl huntress of twenty-three, who has brought down her elephant, her lion and two specimens of antelope.

Natural and Pleasant

Miss Martha Miller testifies that Africa is wholly beautiful and seldom uncomfortable. It is nearly twelve months since she returned with the Carl Akeley Gorilla Expedition, so enamored of that land that she declared she would go back before another year elapsed. That period of time is nearly up and we wanted to know if the Ethiopian country had completely alienated her affections.

"After two weeks in the jungle it seems the natural, pleasant way to live," Miss Miller explained. "It always appealed to my imagination. I was never afraid of anything, having had six brothers and no sister, and doing whatever the boys did.

"Elephants may seem terrible creatures when you see them alive in the zoo or stuffed in the museum, but in their natural surroundings they simply fit in, and you just marvel at them.

Sees Only Pretty Side.

"If you are determined to see the pretty side of a place the unpleasant features of it will not impresses you," the young Diana explained her attitude toward travel

When we asked about the proper mental attitude in which to approach the slaying of a large and wild animal, Miss Miller said:

"Never worry about the next moment. Take each one as it comes.

"People who go out looking for danger bump into it."

Going along as an 'extra gun' with the Akeleys, Mrs. Mary Hastings Bradley and her small daughter, it was Miss Martha Miller who brought down the first elephant that fell for the expedition. These intrepid hunters not only slew the giants of the animal kingdom, but ate of them. Elephant steak and chopped lion's heart were features of the jungle table d'hote.

"Elephant steak has a rich, 'gamey' taste," said Miss Miller. 'The natives smoked it over a bonfire of green branches and danced around it like a barbecue. It had to be eaten right away after the elephant was killed—there was no way to keep it longer.

"Lion's heart could have been anything, judging from the taste. We tried that just to say we had sampled it."

Wears Leopard Coat

Miss Miller wore a fashionable coat of leopard skin and a little turban trimmed with the same fur. We rudely inquired whether or not she had shot her coat in addition to her other trophies.

"No, but the skins came from Africa; a native got them for me I had it made up here," she replied.

For the present Miss Miller is giving some lectures on her experiences, astounding enough for anyone, let alone a girl. Though she doesn't like snakes, the huntress says she was too proud to pay any attention to weird tales, told by teasing persons they encountered on the trip, that bold reptiles crawled into one's blankets during jungle nights.

"I wouldn't look as a matter of pride." Miss Miller told us.

All of which sounds almost inconceivably courageous to us, this story of a girl who stalked an elephant and looked a lion in the eye in broad daylight while so many of us are too cowardly to kill a lyric cat at midnight.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S MAPLE SUGAR

"Maple sugar! Oh, ho, Uncle Wiggily, Maple sugar."

Johnnie and Billy Bushytail, the squirrels, chattered these words one morning as they scampered up and down a tree in front of the hollow stump bungalow of the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"What's that? Maple sugar, What do you mean?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he hopped out on the porch to give his pink nose an early morning twinkle. "What's this about maple sugar?"

"Well, Uncle Wiggily, it's this way, you see," chattered Billie.

"The sap is running in the maple trees," cried brother Johnnie, unable to wait for Billie to tell it, 'and we want you to come to our house to help make maple sugar."

"Thank you, I'll come," promised Uncle Wiggily. "I'll be there directly after school—but mind—you must say your lessons well or it will be no fun making maple sugar."

And when the squirrel boys scampered home from the hollow stump school they found Uncle Wiggily already at their house and the bunny gentleman had gathered in tiny birch bark pails some of the white, sweet sap from the maple trees.

This sap, which is the juice of the tree, is like white suarwater, but when it is boiled and boiled and boiled it becomes thick and brown and, when cool, forms into a cake of brown maple sugar.

Just as Uncle Wiggily, Johnnie and Billie were boiling the sap to thicken it and make it brown, Jennie Chipmunk came scampering in over to see what was going on at the squirrel house.

"You can't have any of our maple sugar!" said Johnnie, and poor Jennie turned red behind her ears.

"Johnnie Bushytail! I'm surprised at you!" chattered his mother. "The idea of being so impolite—especially to company. Now, Johnnie, I'm sorry, but you'll have to go up to bed as a punish lesson!"

"Oh, can't I stay and have some maple sugar?" he begged.

"No," said his mother, and she made him go upstairs, though Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose and said perhaps Johnnie didn't mean to be impolite.

"He must be taught a lesson," said Mrs. Bushytail, sadly.

So with Johnnie out of the way, Uncle Wiggily, Billie and Jennie Chipmunk finished boiling the maple sap and when it was thick and brown it was poured out in little square cakes or pans to cool. It was set on the kitchen table and then the bunny gentleman, Jennie and Billie went in the other room to wait a while.

Up in his room Johnnie was not having a very good time. He could hear the jolly sounds of making maple sugar.

After a while Johnnie heard Uncle Wiggily say:

"We'll leave the square, brown cakes of maple on the table to cool before we eat them."

"Ah, this is my chance!" thought Johnnie. "I'll slip down the back stairs and get a cake of maple sugar for myself."

Down the back stairs he went. On the kitchen table he saw some brown squares and his mouth watered at the sight of them. All of a sudden the door opened, and in stepped the Bob Cat. The Bob Cat looked around. He saw the squares of maple sugar and then the Bob Cat saw Johnnie.

"Do you want me to nibble your ears?" whispered the Bob Cat fiercely.

"No! Oh, no!" gasped Johnnie. "Wouldn't you rather nibble some maple sugar? Here, take one of the brown cakes and eat it," and the squirrel boy pointed to a brown cake on the far edge of the table.

He took a large, impolite bite.

The Bob Cat picked up this cake, looked at it and said:

"I'll eat this cake of maple sugar, then I'll nibble your ears and Uncle Wiggily's ears! Burr-r-r-rr!" Oh, he was a bad Bob Cat.

He took a large, impolite bite of the brown cake an then he gave a loud howl. "Oh! Oh!" cried the Bob Cat. "You gave me a cake of soap! You made me eat soap!" And, foaming at the mouth, out of the bungalow he ran.

By mistake there was a cake of brown soap, looking just like maple sugar, on the kitchen table.

Hearing the Bob Cat's howls. Uncle Wiggily and the others rushed into the kitchen.

"What are you doing here, Johnnie?" asked his mother. "I sent you to your room."

"I—I came down to get maple sugar," he said, "and the Bob Cat came in and—and—he ate the soap!"

"I think we should forgive Johnnie and let him have some maple sugar," said Uncle Wiggily, and so they did. The maple sugar was very good.

And if the hands of the clock don't turn backward and try to turn the face upside down, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the dusting brush.

EFFECT OF RESISTANCE

Before proceeding with the discussion of the best and simplest method of tuning a receiver to the best results it will be well for us to review the various factors which contribute to the final result. In previous articles we have made an elementary study of resistance, which is an important factor in the construction of a receiver.

For direct current the resistance of a conductor depends upon its temperature, the nature of the material composing it, the area of its cross-section and its length. This may be expressed in the following formula.

$$\text{Resistance} = \frac{\text{Length}}{\text{Area}} \text{ multiplied by}$$ the specific resistance of the material, but this is only true if the current flows in equal density throughout the conductor.

Resistance equaling length and area multiplied by the specific resistance of the material, but this is only true if the current flows in equal density throughout the conductor.

In conductors carrying high frequency currents such as are employed in radio the current is denser near the surface and falls away in density toward the center of the conductor. Thus the wire has, as it were, a skin of current; and this peculiar phenomenon is known and referred to in radio parlance as the "skin effect."

An irregular distribution of current throughout the cross-section of a conductor increases the resistance of the conductor. Furthermore, it follows also that the high frequency resistance of a coil is greater than that of the same wire when it is unwound and is stretched out straight, because the current density in the coil is irregular, not only because of the "skin effect," but also because the skin effect itself is non-uniform, being denser toward the inside of the coil.

Any increase in the resistance of the circuits of a radio receiver or such circuits in which the transformation of current energy into heat would be unfavorable, reduces the efficiency of the receiver, and, as great lengths of wire are used, much of it in coils of various forms, steps must be taken to reduce this 'skin effect."

Subscription Promotion Drive

WITH a daily circulation of 6000 now, it is the ultimate aim of The Evening News to place a copy of the paper in every home in Glendale and vicinity.

Friends of The Evening News are joining with us in this successful subscription-getting drive.

This is the way you may help us: Pay 50 cents for a three months' subscription for yourself, and 50 cents for a three months' subscription for a friend who is not now a subscriber and each of you will receive The Evening News for three months.

This means if you are not now a subscriber you may become one for a period of three months by paying 50 cents for your own subscription, and prevailing upon a friend who is a non-subscriber to pay a like amount for the same period.

A person who is now a subscriber may have his subscription date extended three months upon payment of 50 cents when such payment is accompanied by 50 cents for a three months' subscription from a non-subscriber.

READ THE FOLLOWING CAREFULLY

1—The offer as given above will remain in effect until April 1, 1923.
2—Write the names of subscribers and the address legibly.
3—Names for mailing list will not be accepted at this special offer.
4—Cash must accompany the order in every instance.

Address all communications to Subscription Department, Evening News, 139 South Brand Boulevard, Glendale, Calif. Phone Glendale 132.

Tenant-Ownership Is Tried Out in Chicago

CHICAGO, March 12.—A college professor has begun a painstaking tussle trying to make an axiom of the theorem that landlords are an unnecessary, high-priced evil. He is Professor C. E. Tharaldsen, an instructor in zoology in Northwestern University here.

His demonstration lies in a co-operative apartment house. To be a tenant you have to be a part-owner. The educator and several of his disciples have just moved into the building in a suburb of Evanston.

Another tenant-owner will be Mary Ross Potter, dean of women at Northwestern. There are five other women occupants. The occupants pay for actual cost of operating the building, plus the interest and part payment of principal year by year.

SUNRISE SERVICE EASTER MORNING

Plans Underway to Repeat Impressive Ceremony At Eagle Rock

EAGLE ROCK, March 10.—Plans are being perfected by the Twentieth Century club for the annual Easter sunrise service on Eagle Rock. Mrs. A. G. Reily, chairman of the committee on arrangements, announces that the owner, Mrs. Campbell-Johnston, has very graciously given permission to hold the service again on the Rock.

This service, now in its sixth year, has proven to be a very remarkable one, and attracts an audience ranging from 14,000 to 16,000 each year.

The committee in charge, Mrs. A. G. Reily and Mrs. Archibald Fiske, is arranging what promises to be a most interesting and impressive ceremony. The program will be announced later.

Funeral Services

The funeral of Mrs. Grace Saurborn, wife of E. R. Saurborn, of 165 West Park avenue, Eagle Rock, was held today at 1 o'clock at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn cemetery. The service was in charge of the Rev. E. Morgan Isaacs, pastor of the Eagle Rock Congregational church of which Mrs. Saurborn was a member. The Rebekah Lodge of Highland Park also took part in the services.

The floral tributes from the Twentieth Century club and other organizations and friends spoke of the high regad with which M rs. Saurborn was held in the community.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry B. Crawford and daughters, Carol and Phyllies, of 229 East Adams street, and Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Shedd and little daughter of 219 West Colorado boulevard, enjoyed a weekend trip which took them up into the mountain resorts beyond San Bernardino. They left Saturday morning returning Sunday night to Pagle Rock.

The regular Monday card party for the benefit of the philanthropic fund of the Twentieth Century club was in charge of Mrs. Ed Thomas and Mrs. A. R. Rose, who are the chairmen for the month of March.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

GOING AFTER WHAT YOU WANT

When you want a thing there are always two ways of getting it.

One is to sit down and wait for it to come to you.

The other is to go after it.

The second way doesn't always work, of course, but about all you can say for the first way is that it doesn't always fail.

Sometimes when we want a thing we don't go after it simply because we think we can't get it. What's the use, we say. And then someone with no more chance of getting it than we, goes after it and shows what the use is, by getting it.

I have just had a very bitter lesson in losing something I wanted and might have had, simply because I didn't go after it.

In Love for Five Years

For five years I have been in love. Do not be excited. This is not an unhappy love story. For five years I have been in love with a certain very attractive little house. It had almost all the features I have wanted. But it also had the usual drawback. It cost too much.

The lady who owned it was well-to-do. The house was for sale but they said she didn't HAVE to sell it, and would not sell it unless she got her asking price. And that asking price was just $3000 more than I felt the house was worth.

What They Said

So I took what THEY said as gospel and never made any effort even to talk with the owner about the house. "What's the use," I said. "She might come down a thousand or so, but surely she would never take less than that."

A few days ago I heard that the house had been sold.

I felt badly, but consoled myself with the knowledge that I could not have afforded to pay a price so much above the market price as presumably she received.

Yesterday I heard that the house was sold for just the price I would have been willing to pay.

Evidently some one else who had wanted that house had known enough to go after it.

The next time I want a thing I am going to go after it.

And I am going right to headquarters. I am not going to listen to what THEY say. I am going to find out the truth for myself and I am going to make an honest hard try at getting what I want.

Why We Don't Realize

It probably won't be a house next time. It seldom is the same thing twice in succession. And that is why we so often make the same mistakes twice because we are FOOLED by external unlikeness and don't realize that it IS the same mistake.

It may be some one to serve on a committee whom everyone says never is willing to serve. Or it may be a kind of shoe that my regular shoe store says can't be gotten. Or it may be a ticket to something. I can't possibly prophesy what it will be, but I can, and do, prophesy that the next time I want a thing badly I am going after it hard and I am going straight to headquarters.

And if you want what you want when you want it, I advise you to do likewise.

Tomorrow—Beware!

Heiress To Field Estate Soon Marries

Miss Gwendolyn Field, 1922

Miss Gwendolyn Field, 20, only granddaughter of the late Marshall Field, of Chicago, and sister of Captain Marshall Field, 3d, present head of the Field family, is soon to wed Charles Edmonstone, son of Sir Archibald Edmonstone, of Glasgow, Scotland. Miss Field lives in London with her uncle and aunt, Earl and Countess Beatty.

Students Say Co-eds Vamp Men Professors

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 12.—"They vamp 'em."

That's the answer of male Syracuse University to the authorities' pronouncement that the institution's pretty young co-eds were brighter than the men, as evidenced by both intelligence tests and grades.

Bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked co-eds are putting it over the men professors, say the male students, using tears and every other feminine wile with excellent result in the direction of higher academic standing.

Added light is shed from another quarter when, in interviews, the wives of some of the younger members of the teaching staff testified as to what they had to endure from their husbands' girl students.

Not content with doing their vamping in class, they are carrying their war into the enemy's country—into the citadel of their homes.

Examinations were the cause of this aggressive campaign, and unlucky was the wife of a professor who had a phone in his home. According to one of them, this is what she had to listen to all day:

Bell rings. "Is this Professor Blanks's? (sweet feminine voice). Is he in? Well, can't you tell me when he'll be in? No, there isn't any message; it was just a personal matter. I'll call again. Or you might ask him when he comes in to call 'James 4-1144.' He'll know."

Train Stopped to Let Gossipers Quit Track

ALBANY, N. Y., March 12.—On a state road, just where it enters a small town in the Catskills, is a little used railroad crossing, unprotected by either gates or flagman. The engineers are careful to keep a lookout for "jay" drivers and pedestrians.

Recently two automobile friends stopped to talk right in the center of the crossing. They became so engrossed that neither noticed the approach of a train and it was only the warning shouts of the engineer that awakened them to their danger. One hastily meshed his gears and got out of the way, but the other failed to move.

BEAUTY CHATS

THE USEFUL ORANGE STICK

Do you make sufficient use of the orangewood stick in doing your nails? It is, I should think, the most useful of manicure implements, for its proper use does away with the need of frequent manicuring.

I should advise every woman to own at least two of these handy little tools, one for her toilet table and the other in some easily reached place on the bathroom shelf. For, if you push back the cuticle around the nail each time after you have finished washing the hands while this skin is soft from the water, you may be sure of having good looking nails at all times. You will only need a real manicure once a week or so.

When you do give your nails a particularly thorough going over the first thing you do, of course, is to file them into shape, then each hand is soaked for a few moments in a bowl of warm, soapy water which will be bleaching if it contains a little lemon juice. Some manicurists rub the cuticle of the nails with a little cream before soaking them. You might try this and see if it makes the process any easier for you.

After the soaking the nails are cleaned with a file and the edges smoothed with an emery board. Now is the time to use the orangewood stick to push back the cuticle and give a smooth and pretty finish. The little creases at each side of the nail should be given particular attention, the skin being pushed down quite forcibly.

Then the cuticle scissors are used to cut away the rough places that always accumulate at each side of the nail. Sometimes, of course, they must be used all round the nail, particularly when the skin has grown down and has been loosened with a cuticle knife.

A. B. C.—The white spots on your nails are limey deposits resulting from poor circulation. A paste made from equal parts of refined pitch and myrrh, or turpentine and myrrh, spread over the nails each night will dissolve these marks in a short time. Any oil will remove this from the nails in the morning. Improve the circulation under the nails by a vigorous buffing every day.

Desperate.—Any case of blackheads may be cured if the digestive system is in good condition and the person takes a daily hot bath. This method may be somewhat slower than giving local treatments, but the results will be better, as there will be no danger of making the pores coarser than they already are which is what usually happens after local treatments.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Baked Minced Lamb Dish—Assuming that you still have a little of last Sunday's leg of lamb left over, put these scraps through your food chopper. To three or four cupfuls of the chopped lamb (not packed down in the cup solidly) add three tablespoons of dry flour, one-half teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of sugar, two cups of canned tomatoes and one cup of either brown gravy, clear canned soup or just hot water. Mix these ingredients well, then turn them into a baking dish or casserole. Cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake 35 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot.

Italian Omelet—Butter a baking dish and put in the bottom of it several slices of stale bread which have been soaked in sweet milk. Place a layer of thinly-shaved mild American cheese over the bread (Italians use the Gruyere cheese, which is delicious, but the other cheese will answer as well), then pour over the cheese-layer two eggs which have been beaten to a froth (first the yolks, then the stiffly-whipped whites folded into the yolks.) Slip the dish at once into a moderate oven for about 15 minutes—or until browned on top. Serve at once.

Bechamel Sauce for Fish—Blend three tablespoons of butter and three tablespoons of flour; when a smooth paste, add one-half raw onion minced, a few slices of carrot, a pinch of salt, a pinch of grated nutmeg, and two cups of sweet hot milk which you have previously thickened with cornstarch. Let the mixture simmer for 20 minutes, stirring often, then add one cup of cream or rich top-milk, boil up once more, strain, and pour over the baked cod.

Delmonico Potatoes — Parboil enough pared, white potatoes to serve your family. When they have cooked in the boiling water for about 15 minutes, drain, and dice them. Now turn them into a baking dish with well-seasoned white sauce (made of milk cornstarch, butter, pepper and salt) and cover all with dry bread crumbs. Sprinkle with a thin layer of finely-chopped American cheese over the crumbs, add more crumbs, dot with butter and bake for one hour in a moderate oven. Serve hot.

Sardine-Egg Salad — Stuff halved, hardboiled eggs with a mixture of egg-yolk, butter and chopped canned sardines. Serve on lettuce with a boiled salad dressing. Use any stuffing that is left over, for sandwiches.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

TAPE WORMS

Do tape worms intrigue you? They certainly are very intriguing animals—using the word in its latest meaning for interesting.

Tape worms consist of a very tiny head no bigger than the head of a common pin. Growing from that are sections, each section gradually increasing in width to one-half inch, and in length from one-half to one inch.

There are from 1000 to 4000 of these segments (proglottides), depending upon the species. The length of the full adult worm varies from four to fifteen yards, also depending upon the species. Some tape, isn't it?

The tape worm is what is known as the hermaphroditic animal (from the Greek god and goddess, Hermes and Aphrodite.) That is, in each section of the worm there are both male and female glands so that there are no separate male and female form. What we call a single tape worm is, in reality, a colony of worms with a single head.

You can get a tape worm from eating meat of cattle that are infected. In this case you are the host of a beef tape worm, whose card would read Tenia Saginaty, alias Medio Canellata. From infected pork you might become the host of the pork tape worm, Tenia Solium (called Solium because it was first thought they traveled alone, but it is now known they may go in troops.) From infected fish (rare in this country) you would become the host of the most distinguished member of the house of worms. Distinguished both from the point of name and damage, for they cause a severe type of pernicious anemia. Permit me: Tenia Dibothriocephalus Latus.

These are the three best known tape worms. There is a dog tape worm known as the Echinococcus and the dwarf tape worm known as Hymenolepis Nana, probably from rats. More on these later.

There are three general stages of life for all tape worms. First, the egg stage; second, the encysted stage; third, the adult stage. The animal that harbors the encysted stage is called the intermediary host. Cattle, swine, fish are the intermediary hosts in the beef, pork, and fish tape worms respectively. The animal which harbors the adult tape worm, man and swine, may be both host and intermediary host at the same time. That is, they may infect their bodies from the eggs of the worm as well as from the cysts. Therefore, pork tape worms are doubly dangerous. Fortunately, they are much rarer than the beef tape worm. (Pork, you remember, may also be infected with trichina.)

As the beef tape worm is the commonest, I shall give you its history. All the others are similar. A cow, or any member of the cattle family, browses on grass or any food or drink contaminated with human fecal matter containing the segments or eggs of the beef tape worm. The membrane from the egg is dissolved in the stomach, setting free the little larval worms. These bore their way through the mucous membrane of the intestines and get to the muscles and organs of the cow. There they settle down and become encysted. This is known as a cysticercus stage.

The cow is killed and its meat containing many of these encysted worms gets to the market. (It won't if you have a sufficient number of good meat inspectors.) You eat some of it that has not been cooked enough to destroy the worms. Most are killed by the digestive juices, but one or more may escape. These attach themselves by their four suckers to the mucous membranes of the intestine and begin to shoot off the segments until there are 1000 to 2000 of them, the segments growing larger as they are pushed along by new segments.

They get their nutriment by absorption through their skin, the suckers of the head merely acting as hangers-on. The end segments break off and are passed in the bowel movements or voluntarily wiggle out by themselves, the host having no control.

It takes from two to four months for the full adult worm to develop.

Next week I'll tell you of the symptoms (so you can have one) and the treatment for tape worms.

Tomorrow—Simple Goiter

Modern Youth Follow Examples of Parents

CHICAGO, March 12.—"Like father, like son," never meant more than it does today, in the opinion of Miss Mary Ross Potter, dean of women at Northwestern University. And Miss Potter would add another line to the adage to read, "Like mother, like daughter."

Miss Potter firmly believes that if mother sees fit to take an occasional drag on a cigaret, then no real objection can be made to daughter's purchasing a cigaret holder and a package of "fags." in the same manner. If it is right and proper that papa should indulge in a highball, then sonny has the same right.

"What's good for the goose is good for the gander," Miss Potter says.

The young man and the young woman of today have discarded the old idea that when they were told certain things were not good for them they must shun those things, although mother and father enjoyed the selfsame things. Nowadays she says, the young people proceed on the theory: "If that isn't good for me I can't see why it is good for them."

Young people of today are much farther advanced than the young people of ten years ago, Miss Potter believes. Her belief is made stronger by the fact she points out that young people are stepping from the universities into far more responsible positions than did their elders.

"Don't make young people believe they must have their good times now and then settle down to hard work later," Miss Potter urges. "It was never meant that the older folk were not to mix pleasure with their business.

"Right and wrong are the same at 16 and 60. The example must be set by the parents."

WHEN CAESAR FELL ILL OF EPILEPSY—

Weekly Health Talk No. 22
By Drs. Eble & Eble, Ds. C.

When Julius Caesar fell ill of epilepsy it was Cassius who looked on in scorn of such weakness, because in the mind of Cassius a man so great as Caesar should be above any form of physical weakness. For Caesar to grovel on the ground in the "falling sickness" was unbecoming in a ruler.

Epilepsy, or "the falling sickness," as it was known in ancient days, is one of the so-called incurable diseases that has so readily and invariably been overcome by chiropractic spinal adjustments that it has lost its terrors. The disease in persons of mature age is often stubborn in yielding, but in youth it is readily overcome by vertebral adjustments.

UNCLE BEN SAYS: An Optimist is a fellow who owes many people, Nevvy, and is glad because he himself is not one of them.

Recovery Depends on Patient

Recovery after adjustments is dependent upon the patient to a large extent. You are on your good behavior. Instruction by the Chiropractor should be followed to the letter. After all, he is only trying to keep you in line with Nature, and if you disobey, it is Nature that exacts the reckoning, and Nature cannot be cheated.

WELL OF EPILEPSY

"During 1914 I began having epileptic seizures. In 1918 after nearly a year of chiropractic adjustments I was well. In all the years since I have had no return of the seizures."—Orval Fry, 1231R. Chiropractic Research Bureau.

"My baby was taken with epilepsy, 15 to 20 seizures every 24 hours. Under chiropractic she became well and has not had a seizure in three years."—J. D. Daugherty, 1231ER, Chiropractic Research Bureau.

"My daughter suffered from epileptic fits. Under hospital treatment she showed no improvement. Under chiropractic she is well. It is now two years since she had an attack."—Mrs. Josefa Zeman, 1276C, Chiropractic Research Bureau.

SPORTS CHATTER

Since 1920 more swimmers have tried to cross the English Channel than in other years, and indications are that during the coming summer there will be more attempts at this almost impossible undertaking than ever before. The first intimation of such an attempt comes from Montreal, Canada with the announcement that Omer Perrault will essay the long distance swim. Perrault was in France last year for making an attempt but wind and weather conditions prevented his entering the water.

Only two swimmers have succeeded in getting across the English Channel. The actual distance across the Channel of about twenty miles is not by any means an impossible distance for a swimmer to negotiate, but the trouble comes in the strong tides, the winds and the cold water. Anyone who attempts this swim, actually travels more than sixty miles back and forth up and down the channel before he is pulled out of the water.

The first successful attempt was on August 26, 1875, when Captain Matthew Webb, an Englishman swam from Dover to Calais and was in the water 21 hours 35 minutes. It was more than thirty-five years later, Sept. 6, 1911 when William Burgess another English swimmer duplicated Webb's feat, Burgess being in the water 22 hours 35 minutes.

That the proverb "if at first you don't succeed, try try again" is correct, seems amply proven in the case of Burgess who had made fifteen unsuccessful attempts and succeeded on his sixteenth trial. However all those who have tried and tried again have not been successful, note for instance the case of Jabez Wolf who has tried twenty-one times and yet he must be credited with some real hard luck as in September, 1908 Wolf arrived within less than half a mile of the Calais pier and was taken so terribly sick that he had to be forcibly taken from the water to avoid drowning. Montague Holbein of England made seven attempts and in 1903 arrived within one mile of Dover, but had to give up. Annette Kellerman known the world over as a remarkable swimmer and movie actress has made five attempts to swim the channel without success.

Last year seven men swimmers, representing four Nations and Madame Sion of France made attempts to swim but had to give up. Included in the list were Charles Toth and Sam Richards of Boston, the former making two attempts; and Walter Patterson of Bridgeport, Ct. The other men who tried the stunt last year were George Michel, France; Enrique Tirabecchio, Italy; J. Indritsanov, Russia.

Besides Webb and Burgess who are known to have positively swum across the Channel there are two other men who have claims they swam across. Captain Davis Dalton of New York has made the claim he swam across in August 1890, while San Mahoney of Revere Beach, Mass., also claims to have negotiated the Channel, giving the date as September 1908. Neither of these claims have been verified at any time and no one has been found who could give definite proof of the performances.

GOTHAM'S WISEST FALL FOR FIRPO

Battle With Brennan Tonight Regarded as Joke, Says Writer

NEW YORK, March 12.—Luis Angel Firpo, a rough, tough citizen with the paunch of an ex-brewer and only a vague idea of what it is all about, and Bill Brennan, who never was and never will be, will meet tonight at Madison Square Garden in a bout calculated to determine the senor's future status among heavyweight Americans. In actual value the match isn't worth a second look, but the natives seem to be very much exercised over it and are buying tickets with avidity and ten dollar bills.

Gullible Gotham

It all goes to prove that your New York wise cracker is the most gullible individual ever taken over the hurdles. Brennan, as everyone knows, is just a tough mauler with no pretensions whatever to championship rating. Firpo is the product of an insistent ballyhoo, the volume of which is contributed by the astounding fact that he was able to knock over some of our most esteemed fifth-raters last Summer.

Flat of foot, ponderous of movement, easy to reach with either right or left, and, withal, scarcely a tyro's knowledge of how to attack successfully, Firpo has been "smoked up" to a degree where he is taken seriously in some benighted quarters. His only real recommendation is a dangerous right hand. This would waft any convenient chin inside out, provided that member was ill-advised enough to remain as is. However, the senor is sufficiently thoughtful to "telegraph" all punches, and that is quite enough for any chin of intelligence and forethought.

Calls Bout Joke

In short, the bout would be a joke if Brennan could be brought to the condition he knew a year or two ago. But Bill has either lost all ambition or is resigned to the role of human stepping stone. He no longer trains seriously, and Firpo, crude as he is, may be able to ride through the situation.

If he scores a knockout a bout with Dempsey would be in prospect. Hence the general stampede toward the box office by the credulous. They are what Jack Doyle terms the "I-Was-There" guys and would prefer being taken in than admit to the crude provincialism of having been elsewhere.

The Sport Crucible
By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 9.—The discreet silence from the direction of Shelby, Montana, on the $250,000 matter of a Dempsey-Gibbons bout, July 4, is probably the result of conditions laid down by Jack Kearns, Mr. Dempsey's manager.

When last heard from, some days ago, Shelby went on record as declaring that Kearns had accepted terms for the match. That is what might be termed an inaccuracy, speaking generously. What Kearns said was that the purse was satisfactory and the match would be made, provided the citizens of Shelby would guarantee the following financial arrangements.

The payment, outright, of $50,000 to Dempsey and Kearns the moment articles were signed; the posting of an additional $50,000 with a responsible party as evidence of good faith, the money to be turned over to Dempsey and Kearns the day of the fight; the remaining $100,000 of Dempsey's share of the purse to be paid him before he entered the ring.

In short, the burden of proof was to rest upon Shelby, Montana. It was to take all the chances, the Dempsey-Kearns interests to take all the money, with the possible exception of Gibbons $50,000, it being assumed that Tom also would insist upon pre-payment.

This would mean that the proposed promoters would go about $400,000 "on the nut," so to speak, before they took in a dollar. What, with the erection of an arena and incidental expenses, they could not hope to get out in the clear for less.

Musical Talent Wins Freedom for Convict

NORRISTOWN, Pa., March 12.—The discovery of his refined musical tastes and a recently awakened interest in classics won freedom for Frank W. James, alias Franz French, alias Thomas May Knight, in court here. James is about 25 years old. He pleaded guilty to breaking into four North End homes in 1915.

Since then he has been serving six years in the eastern penitentiary at Philadelphia. While there James became proficient with the violin.

Birth Control, Taxes, Rent Cut Population

LONDON, March 12—Excessive taxation, the growing practice of birth control and the boycott of children by landlords and servants are, according to the Registrar General of Births and Deaths, the leading reasons for the extraordinary decline in the birth rate in Britain last year.

Fewer babies were born in 1922 than during any other year on record, he says in his report.

The death rate was 12.4 per thousand, while infant mortality was also down to its lowest point.

GETS SOLID IN SOUTH AMERICA

England Worried as Americans Entrench Themselves in Continent to South

By HARRY L. ROGERS.
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The administration has decided upon a definite policy of making hay while the sun shines in Latin America, even if economic and financial blizzards prevail in Europe.

Officials are fully aware that unprecedented opportunities exist for the extension of American prestige and American commerce in the continent to the south.

Secretary Hughes visited Rio de Janeiro when the Brazilian centennial opened, and he is now said to be planning to visit Uruguay, Argentina, Chile and Peru.

Another achievement was the recent successful termination of the Tacna-Arica dispute between Chile and Peru at their Washington conference.

The Central American conference just concluded, with satisfactory arrangements for a permanent court of arbitration and a limitation of armaments agreement, is another example.

Costa Rica Protocol

Coincident with this conference, the United States has negotiated with Costa Rica a protocol which apparently clears the way to the construction by this country of a transoceanic canal over the Nicaraguan route some time later.

British officials are considerably chagrined over the closing of an agreement with the Brazilian government to send an American naval mission to reorganize the naval defense system of Brazil. There have been interpellations in the British House of Commons during which members called the government to account for permitting the United States to "win out" in this matter.

During the late sessions of the House of Commons the British government was urged to beware of the growing influence of the United States in Latin America.

Brazil Plan Boomerang?

The American naval mission to Brazil however, was something of a boomerang. Brazil, being Portuguese instead of Spanish, has occupied a peculiar position with regard to other Latin-American countries. Brazil is the largest and potentially the richest country in South America, and because of the half-veiled enmity with which she has been regarded by other nations of Spanish origin she has determined upon a strong policy of national defense. For this reason Brazil has rejected suggestions from the League of Nations for the limitation of her army and navy.

The reflex of this government's decision to send Admiral Vogelgesang to Brazil as head of the American commission of naval experts has not been good. Argentina and Chile, the natural enemies of Brazil and against whom Brazil is now developing a defense, are alarmed, and the Argentine and Chilean press has abounded of late in criticisms of the American mission.

The WORLD OVER

The refusal of the I. C., A. A. A. A. to accept the application for admission submitted by the University of Southern California on the grounds that additional information was necessary as to the scholastic requirements of that institution has aroused a bitter protest from the students who threaten that, never again, will they have anything more to do with the I. C. 4-A organization. The following excerpt in this connection is from the typewriter of a Southern California sports writer:

"Possibly California's capturing of the I. C. A. A. A. A. title in two successive years has convinced eastern critics and officials that if their athletes ever expect to win the national title all western cinder path stars must be kept this side of the Rockies.

"One thing is ceretin, however, the east has cheated itself out of seeing the greatest sprinter of all time (Charlie Paddock) and also the sight of one of the greatest track aggregations ever put together.

"The west, in athletics, has reached the position where it does not have to bow to the east—and the sooner the easterners find this out, the better for them."

There seems to be considerable rancour in the paragraphs quoted, but looking on the incident with a calm, judicial eye, it would seem that the officials of the I. C. A. A. A. A. were entirely within their rights in wanting to know exactly the eligibility rules of the University of Southern California. There are more than a score of colleges in the organization and it is obvious that all must be governed by the same eligibility rules in connection with their athletes. The Californians are by no means the first ones whose application has been tabled for a year in order to get more information.

Doubtless the I. C. A. A. A. A. will go its way in the future, just as it has in the past, without the University of Southern California as a member and, to the rank outsider, the decision of the Californians to retract their application for all time, is merely a loss for them and no one else. There is nothing unusual in temporarily tabeling an application until all required data are available. Rather it shows that the organization is taking pains to see that everything is fair and aboveboard and all the athletes of the organization on an equality when they compete, which should appeal to the University of Southern California instead of rousing their ire.

It is to be hoped that on further reflection the matter will be seen in its right and logical light. There is no discrimination against the west as evidenced by the fact that both Stanford and the University of California are members.

THE WEEKLY WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The fact that many owners of American vessels are taking advantage of the lower operating costs of the German Merchant Marine to change the registry of their vessels from American to German is revealed in a Shipping Board statement just out. Germany and Panama have the bulge on other nations that harbor American-owned merchant vessels where the owners want to escape the onerous regulations inflicted by an unkind American congress. That the changes of flag are going on more rapidly than the American public has any realization of, is indicated in the board's statement showing the dwindling number of export and import cargoes from and to the United States being carried in American bottoms.

While 1200 American-built and American-owned steel cargo carriers are swinging idly at anchor, many of which have never carried a pound of freight since they were launched, England constructed 1,000,000 tons of ocean tonnage last year for English owners.

England with her privately owned and subsidized fleet is gradually prying the commerce of the world away from American vessels government-managed with all of the expense government-owned enterprises usually carry. No fleet, not even an American fleet, can meet competition under existing conditions.

Radio Popular With Farmers

The American farmer is becoming an avowed radio fan. The department of agriculture has completed its first survey of its own radio activities and in response to an inquiry recently broadcasted more than fifty per cent of the replies came from farmers with their own individual radio equipment. The other replies came from grain dealers, mills, elevators, banks, telephone companies, cooperative organizations and farm bureaus, all of which act as a disseminating center for the department's reports sent via radio.

The farmers showed the greatest interest in the daily grain reports which inform them of the prices obtaining at the leading markets. Live stock reports were second in importance and weather reports next.

The survey shows that radio among the rural population has developed more in the Middle West than in any other part of the country.

Refrigerator Ships to New York

The war department is very much interested in the plan of a California group of farm capitalists to inaugurate a Panama canal service of refrigerator ships to the New York market. The war department interest comes from the fact that it expects to sell several of its new transports to be converted into refrigerator ships for this service and also because it will be very handy to have these refrigerator ships in case of war. Maurice Selig of San Francisco is head of the Motorship Service Company which has advised the secretary of war that it plans to invest between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000 in the enterprise. The benefit to California will be the fact that it will enable the coast growers to get their fresh fruits and vegetables to market without depending wholly on the service afforded them in the past. The magnitude of the enterprise can be appreciated in the fact that the seven ships the company proposes to buy will take care only of the fruit grown on the increased amount of acreage due to bear this year in California.

Government Puts Ban On Filipino Air Gun

MANILA, March 12—A Filipino in Caloocan, a town adjoining Manila, has invented an air rifle whose projectile penetrates a two-inch hardwood plank. The government has written "verboten" on the invention, as the gun is a silent but very deadly weapon.

Filipinos make another gun that Conan Doyle describes in one of his Sherlock Holmes stories. It is called "sumpit," and is simply a hollow tube about eight feet long, the hole being about the diameter of a 38-calibre revolver. The load, which may be nothing more than a sun-dried mudball, is placed in one end, the the user blows into the other. The load is discharged with surprising force. Birds are easily potted in this way. Arrows—as Doyle describes—may be used, with the barb poisoned. The weapon is noiseless. Nowadays it is chiefly used by little boys on bird hunts.

Woman Slayer Begins Penitentiary Sentence

ELY, Nev., March 12.—Mrs. Dawn Margaret Williams of Missoula, Mont., the third woman slayer to be convicted in the history of Nevada, was taken to the state penitentiary at Carson City to begin serving an indeterminate term of from one to ten years. Mrs. Williams was tried for the murder here in January of Jess Coverly. The jury found her guilty of manslaughter.

Would you feed your children dope?

Then why continue to use "neutralized" (chemicalized) butter?
Why not get the QUALITY Butter YOU PAY FOR?

Lime may not be injurious—but just try this.

Place a small quantity of unslaked lime in a pan. Wet it.

Imagine EATING the boiling, bubbling mess!

It's rank poison when taken in quantity.

It eats up human flesh.

Put your finger into the bowl while the lime is slaking and see how quickly it will remove the cuticle from your finger.

Then—just imagine how much more harm it can do the delicate linings and tissues of the human body.

Lime is one of the "neutralizers" used in making most creamery butter. Other chemicals are also used.

"Neutralizing" Butter means taking a batch of rank, over-sour cream and treating it with chemicals so that it can be palmed off as "fresh creamery butter."

Neutralized Butter is a subterfuge—a technical way of fooling the public.

When Attorney General Palmer was in office he wanted to enforce a law on the United States Statute Books that calls for a tax of 10 cents a pound on "neutralized" butter. He wanted to make it compulsory for the creamery man to tell the public the truth.

Why he failed to do so is a matter of no consequence here.

What you want to know is how you can protect yourself against "neutralized" butter—how you can always be sure of getting the finest WHOLE MILK BUTTER—how to GET the QUALITY you PAY for. Simply insist on CLOVER GLEN BUTTER and you won't be mistaken.

CLOVER GLEN BUTTER is pure WHOLE MILK BUTTER. It is made from pure, sweet cream gathered every day by fast motor trucks and transported to the creamery.

CLOVER GLEN BUTTER meets the exacting requirements—the standards set by butter specialists—for the FINEST BUTTER—

In flavor, texture, color and purity it meets the standards of both experts and housewives—and is from grass-fed herds.

Ask for CLOVER GLEN BUTTER by name to insure getting the BUTTER made of FRESH WHOLE MILK without the use of harmful CHEMICALS.

BUYERS INSPECT NEW HOME SITES

Suburban Heights Tract Is Goal of Homeseekers, Says Manager

Suburban Heights Tract yesterday was inspected by the largest number of prospective home-owners since its opening. All of them agreed that the tract, which is bounded by Tenth street, Kenneth road, Winchester avenue and Irving avenue, contains some of the finest view property in the San Fernando valley.

All improvements in this tract will be completed by the first of April, according to H. J. Blackmore, general manager of the Suburban Realty Company of 508 South Brand boulevard. He stated this morning that the improvements included all street work, sidewalks, gas, water and electric service.

"One hundred and fifty thousand dollars' worth of lots have been sold in this tract," stated A. R. Johnson, president of the company, this morning. "There is considerable building activity and a great many buyers are figuring on commencing building operations immediately. This is being regarded largely as a home tract. We have made arrangements to finance the construction of a home for anyone who pays cash for their lot. From present indications the tract will be closed out in a very short time."

All improvements are in on Thompson, Raymond and Irving avenues. Plans are completed for laying the remaining stretches of sidewalk on Tenth street, Western avenue and Kenneth road.

All improvements are now being rushed to completion and over half of them have been finished already. Work is being concentrated this week upon Winchester avenue. Sidewalks are laid, curbs are in, the street has been graded and is now being surfaced with macadam.

Heart Disease Fatal After Three Drinks

SONOMA, Mar. 12.—After taking three drinks of bootleg booze in Shamrock Inn at Boyes Springs, Pietro Vellieux, 57, grocer at Fetter Springs, walked out of the place, took a few steps and dropped dead.

Within an hour afterwards, James Moore, owner of the inn, who admitted selling the liquor, had been arrested and sentenced to 150 days in the county jail here by Justice of the Peace Lester Small.

A coroner's jury was summoned which held an inquest and found that Vellieux's death was due to heart disease.

Friends of the man said he had been drinking heavily during the last few days.

Co-eds Fix $30 Limit For Complete Outfit

CHICAGO, Mar. 12.—The Federation of Campus Women of the University of Chicago, which means the whole co-ed body, will recommend college styles for the year at a show.

One complete outfit, a gown, suit or sweater and skirt—should not cost more than $20 or $30, says the federation. Simplicity and conservativeness are its ideals. Russian boots, sandals and galoshes are taboo.

Postmaster Suicide Left $86,050 Short

MACON, Mar. 12.—Hillyer Rudisill, postmaster at Macon, who shot and killed himself in his office, was found short $86,050 in his accounts.

Rudisill killed himself when investigators entered the stockroom of which he had been in absolute charge for twenty-one years. In a letter he left behind, Rudisill attributed his shortage to a robbery.

URGE CHANGE IN BY-LAWS OF CLUB

mittee presented an addition to the by-laws to provide that all applications for membership must be made on regular club blanks, giving the name of the applicant, credentials, and two endorsements. Applications will be presented at one meeting and voted on by the board of directors at the following meeting. A certificate of membership in another college women's club may be accepted as one endorsement. After a discussion of the recommendation it was accepted by the club.

Glee Club Concert

Mrs. D. F. Reichard was another speaker, announcing the coming concert by the Stanford men's glee club. At the close of her announcement the college women voted to entertain as their guests at the concert Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reynolds of Los Angeles. Mr. Reynolds is manager of the Automobile club, and is chairman of the Stanford scholarship committee.

Upon recommendation of Mrs. Reichard the club voted to send a resolution to Governor Richardson urging him to reconsider his cut in the state school budget.

The entertainment features of the afternoon were vocal numbers by Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah of the Cavanah Studio, accompanied by Mr. Cavanah, and readings by Mrs. J. H. Payne.

Mrs. Cavanah sang "An Old-Fashioned Town" (Squire) "Sacrament" (McDermid) and "Didn't It Rain" (a darkey song). Mrs. Payne gave two juvenile numbers, "Judgment Day" and "Out to Grandma's."

Late in the afternoon tea and cakes were served and the alumnae enjoyed a get-acquainted hour, directed by Mrs. A. W. Tower, chairman of the program.

HARDING NEARING VACATION'S END

Houseboat Drifts Miamiward Where Cares of State Await Executive

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 12.—Half way down the shallow, mud-soaked channel that leads southward from Palm Beach, President Harding chugged along today on the houseboat Pioneer, bound for Miami, and bound probably also for the end of that "splendid isolation" that has been his since he entered the state of Florida a week ago.

Palm Beach, now in the last mad fling of its winter gaiety, failed to draw the chief executive from the seclusion of his houseboat.

At Miami, a stop of indeterminate length is to be made.

Attorney General Daugherty, Secretary of Labor Davis and other political leaders from various parts of the country are at Miami.

Plan Western Tour

There are also a number of other visitors at Miami, who want to discuss with the president plans for his contemplated western tour this summer. A tentative program calling for a score or more speeches in a big "swing around the circle" has been discussed by Mr. Harding and his political advisers, especially will be gone into more fully during the Miami stay.

Official cares intruded upon the president's vacation today. As he drifted slowly down the channel on the Pioneer he spent some time this forenoon in going over the large batch of mail and reports put aboard the boat on Saturday at Palm Beach, the first that has reached him from Washington.

Woman Is Suffocated By Smouldering Carpet

NEW YORK, March 12.—Miss Helen McKenna, 63, was suffocated in bed in her home in Barrington, N. J., by smoke from a burning carpet in her room.

It is believed that she awakened early, struck a match to see what time it was and again retired, a spark from the match setting fire to the carpet.

FOSTER TRIAL BEGINS

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 12.—The trial of William Z. Foster, noted radical, under the Michigan syndicalism laws, was begun here today in Berrien county circuit court. Prospective jurors were questioned at length concerning radical literature which the state charges was sent to residents of the county.

BISHOP IS BETTER

ST. LOUIS, March 12.—No alarm was felt today over the condition of Bishop D. S. Tuttle, senior bishop in the Episcopal church, who was stricken several days ago with an attack of bronchial troubles. At his residence in this city it was reported that he had passed a comfortable night and was resting easy.

Nearly 6000 people are employed in the saw industry in this country.

Only one species of reptile, a lizard, is found in the Azores.

PLAN DINNER OF C. C. COMMITTEES

Directors Meet at Luncheon Tuesday to Discuss Pending Business

The directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will meet for luncheon in the Harriet Mae Tea Room on East Harvard street tomorrow at noon, when a number of matters of importance will be taken up for discussion, among them being the plan put forth by the secretary, James M. Rhoades, to have a dinner for the various committeemen of the Chamber of Commerce on Friday night, March 16, when the committees would be organized and the plans for the coming year's work be adopted by each separate organization within the Chamber of Commerce.

The post office committee of the Chamber of Commerce was organized last Friday, with Roy Kent as chairman, and plans were laid to insure a better mail service for Glendale. Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson appeared before the committee and gave the members a clear statement of the difficulties that he is encountering in bringing the local office up to the proper pitch of efficiency to keep pace with the growth of Glendale, and he has been assured of the cooperation of the committee in every effort that can be put forth to improve mail delivery in Glendale and to secure more help in the office.

WIN WOMEN'S DOUBLES

MENTONE, March 12.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen of France and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of California, won the women's doubles title on the local courts today by disposing of Miss Catterthwaite and Mrs. Beamish, of England in the final round, 6-2. The Lenglen-Ryan team advanced to the final round by defeating Miss Kitty McKane, and Mrs. Worburg of England, 6-2, 6-0.

OPEN CLUB WITH TWO FAST GAMES

Glendale Recreation Center Launched Auspiciously Saturday Night

Jensen's Egyptian alleys in the basement of their Palace Grand shops, 133 North Brand boulevard, were very auspiciously opened Saturday night, with the playing of two closely contested matches witnessed by close to 500 Glendalians and visitors.

Neat pin-boys attired in smart gray uniforms, with black striped pantaloons and shirts bearing the black letters "G. R. C."—Glendale Recreation Club—added a decided tone to the atmosphere.

Many women enjoyed the privileges of the club, one family of father, mother, two sons and a daughter joining in a game of pocket billiards during the progress of the matches.

The first match was between the Hollywood and Glendale teams, the visitors winning by a narrow margin. The second match was between Glendale Gateway and Jensen's Drug teams, and resulted in a victory for the latter.

High scores for the evening were made by L. H. Covell, of Gateway, and Joe Fortunato, of Jensen's, their best games being 256 and 223 respectively.

Bowling Schedule

Manager Peter Neise, of the Jensen Egyptian alleys, states that the attendance at Saturday night's matches was highly gratifying, and that compliments as to the beauty of the place were heard on all hands.

Match games will continue all this week, he says, tonight's test of skill being between the Glendale, Gateway and Mullen & Bluett teams.

Following are the lists of Saturday night's players, with scores made:

Hollywood team — Goodman, McKenzie, Bedell, Boyd, Horsley. First game—870. Second game—883. Third game—886.

Glendale team—Estes, Anstey, Fortunato, Roder, Neise. First game—909. Second game—855. Third game—872.

Glendale Gateway team — Royes, Maser, Newkirk, Caswell, Covell. First game—765. Second game—879. Third game—918.

Jensen's Drug team—Kane, Mieding, Huesman, Hammes, Fortunato. First game — 802. Second game—801. Third game—913.

Mysterious Fire In British Premier's Home

LONDON, March 12.—A mysterious fire broke out this morning at No. 10 Downing street, official residence of Premier Bonar Law. The premier was routed from his bed but the blaze was quickly extinguished with slight damage.

PLAN SPEEDY TRIAL

VANCOUVER, Wash., March 12 Clarke county authorities were today making plans for a speedy trial of Edward Whitfield, charged with the brutal assault and murder of Anna Nosko, 11-year-old school girl of Battle Ground, Wash. A special jury session will be asked and if secured it is likely the trial will start early in April.

JAPAN WILL ACT

TOKIO, March 12.—The cabinet in session this afternoon promised an announcement of its position on China's demands for the abrogation of the treaty of 1915 which embodied the famous "twenty-one demands" made upon China by Japan.

THEATRES

The GLENDALE

"Just Tony," now showing at the Glendale theatre, is a film a little different from anything ever before brought to the screen, in that it features Tom Mix's great horse by that name.

Picture fans have long known what a wonderful animal Tom has in Tony. They have frequently enjoyed seeing him in his master's pictures. But never before have they had him as in the present instance—"Just Tony."

It is a film that somehow touches the heart-strings as few pictures do, so human is it and so sincere.

For many years Tom has wanted to pay a tribute to the faithful horse that has been his pal in many an escapade—and at last he has done so, supremely.

The T. D. & L.

In "Minnie," the First National attraction showing today at the T. D. & L. Theatre for the last times, Marshall Neilan has created a truly excellent picture.

Consider the characters. First there is Minnie herself, played by Leatrice Joy, a "Cinderella of the Sink," who writes love letters to herself, because nobody else will! Then there is Horace, the romancing newspaperman, played by Matt More. He is on the trail of the world's greatest human interest story. He gets it, only to learn that to print it would break a heart that can endure no more pain. So he tries to forget it and—that's the story, and a good one.

In Christian art the goat is regarded as an emblem of impurity.

NAVY TO PATROL OCEAN ICE FIELD

Coast Guard Ships Ordered To Guard Steamships Against Floes

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 12.—United States coast guard cutters have been detailed to protect trans-Atlantic liners from the iceberg menace, the navy department announced.

Wireless messages flashed to government radio stations, warning of great floes of ice sweeping down upon the steamship navigation lanes from the polar regions, led to the inauguration of the ice patrol.

The cutter Tampa is scheduled to sail from Boston March 14, for a fifteen day cruise off the northern Atlantic seaboard, while the cutter Modoc will leave the same port March 27.

The object of the ice patrol is to locate icebergs and field ice nearest to the trans-Atlantic steamship routes. The patrol vessels will determine the limits of the ice floes, keeping in touch with the fields as they drift southward.

Warn Sea Craft

Wireless messages will be broadcasted at frequent intervals warning all sea craft of the location of the floes.

One of the greatest marine disasters of all time, the sinking of the White Star steamship Titanic, in April, 1912, was caused by a collision with an iceberg. The liner, on her maiden trip and carrying celebrities of two continents, went down with 1517 passengers and members of the crew. The Titanic is supposed to have struck a submerged iceberg.

The ice patrol service, the navy department indicated, would be continued through March, April, May and June. During these months, floes breaking away from the ice fields which surround the polar regions, are driven southward by the wind.

Maxwell Auto Will Be Given at Exposition

The automobile that is to be given away at the Merchants' Industrial Exposition and Automobile Show that is to be held here from May 25 to June 3 has been selected by Harry L. Leavitt, director general of the exposition, who has purchased a Maxwell touring car through the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street. Each admission to the exposition will entitle the ticket holder to a chance on the automobile, which is one of the latest models and that is equipped with all the latest accessories that go with the Maxwell.

EXPERT TO SHOW BEAUTY SECRETS

Methods of Caring for Skin Will Be Revealed at Keller Hall

Glendale women who are interested in learning scientific methods of caring for the skin are to have the opportunity Thursday afternoon from 3 till 5 o'clock, when they are invited to be guests of the Spohr drug store at the Pearl Keller hall on North Brand boulevard, where Miss Grace Peters of New York, consultant for the Elizabeth Arden cosmetic company, will give a demonstration and lecture.

The Elizabeth Arden preparations are handled by only one store in a city and the Spohr store has secured the Glendale agency. It is an exclusive line of goods and includes preparations for every need.

Miss Peters will demonstrate the cleansing of the skin at night, muscle strapping, cleansing of the skin in the morning, and the art of make-up. She will also answer questions and demonstrate on request.

DEATHS, FUNERALS

MRS. ELLA LANDERKIN

Funeral services for Mrs. Ella Landerkin, who passed away at 10 o'clock Thursday night, March 8, 1923, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel M. Garroway, 206 East Palmer avenue, were held at 3 o'clock this afternoon, Monday, March 12, at the Little Church of the Flowers, with interment in Forest Lawn cemetery.

The deceased, whose age was 75 years, was the widow of the late Henry Landerkin, pioneer resident of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. She is survived by her daughter, mentioned above, and by a brother-in-law, Senator Landerkin, of Winnipeg; a son-in-law, Samuel M. Garroway, and numerous more distant relatives, both in the United States and in Canada.

She had lived in California about four years, the last year in Glendale, where she had been brought by her daughter for her health. A severe fall, shortly after her arrival in this city, hastened her end, causing her neck to be fractured in two places.

Dr. C. W. Taylor, who has been attending her, states, however, that other contributory causes brought on her demise.

Dr. Ezra Healey, dean of the University of Southern California, an old schoolmate and lifelong friend of the deceased, performed the final rites.

Alexander J. Garrowey and Will Garroway, brothers of Samuel M. Garroway, the departed woman's son-in-law, rendered a solo and organ accompaniment at the close of the services.

GEORGE W. HALL

Funeral services for George W. Hall of Hollywood, who died Friday, March 9, 1923, at a local hospital, were held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Little Church of the Flowers, in Forest Lawn. The L. G. Scovern Undertaking company was in charge.

Mr. Hall, who is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elsa M. Hall, was a member of the Nile Shrine of Seattle, Wash., and a member of the Scottish Rite order of Masons.

MRS. HELEN V. HALSTEAD

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen V. Halstead, who died March 10, 1923, in Glendale, were held this morning at the Little Church of the Flowers, in Forest Lawn. The L. G. Scovern company was in charge.

MRS. LOTTIE C. NIVISON.

Mrs. Lottie C. Nivison died Saturday, March 10, 1923, at the home of her son, B. B. Nivison in La Crescenta. Her body will be shipped by the L. G. Scovern Undertaking company to her old home in Valoise, N. Y., for funeral services and burial.

MRS. MARY E. KIRBY

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Kirby died Saturday, March 10, 1923, at her home in La Crescenta. Her husband and son, George W. and R. A. Kirby, will take her body to Tucson, Arizona, for funeral and burial. The L. G. Scovern Undertaking company is in charge.

DR. BENJAMIN C. CHADWICK

Dr. Benjamin C. Chadwick, age 38 years died Sunday night, March 11, 1923 at a Los Angeles hospital. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the L. G. Scovern chapel.

PARTIES LAYING CAMPAIGN PLANS

Administration's Record to Be Subject of Attack And Defense

By GEORGE E. DURNO
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 12.—With the half way mark of the Harding administration passed and with the 67th congress relegated to history, leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties are preparing for the launching of the 1924 campaign. Work in the two camps got under way feverishly today in order that the big guns might be ready for their opening assault early in the summer.

Achievements of the Harding regime to date are being carefully and alphabetically catalogued by the Republicans so the nation may be greeted this summer with the usual pre-election oratory. Preliminary instructions are being doled out to the party workers and organizers and, by the coming of the summer, the long trek that ends at the polls will be under way.

Failures of the Republican administration are being chronicled by the Democrats for similar consumption. Chairman Cordell Hull, of the Democratic national committee, is busy organizing Democratic clubs throughout the country and finding orators to spellbind them. All signs point to a big opening in June.

Harding to Speak

President Harding personally is expected to blaze the way for his party. With the president in Florida are his two foremost political advisers, Attorney-General Daugherty and Secretary of War Weeks, and from a month's conference with these two, it is believed, will come at least a fairly definite understanding as to the manner of handling the coming campaign.

Present plans will take the president out of Washington in early June for a two or three months' swing around the country, during which he hopes to deliver at least twenty major speeches.

American participation in the court of international justice and the question of ship subsidy already are assured of an important place in the speaking agenda, but equally so will be an enumeration of the not inconsiderable achievements of the first two years of the Harding administration.

Republican Claims

As seen by the White House the outstanding accomplishments, all settling finally into what is considered a remarkable recovery from post-war depression, are:

First, and foremost, the solution of the unemployment problem. From between four and a half and five million unemployed at the advent of the Harding administration, it is claimed the country today finds itself with "half a million jobs looking for workers."

Second, the casing of the credit situation "by a prompt reversal of extreme and drastic deflation," together with an effective encouragement of the development of foreign demand and markets for American agricultural products.

Third, an actually upward tendency in wages.

Democratic claims do not exactly coincide with these assertions. In two years, the headquarters here set forth, the Republican government has failed to advance a single constructive policy—foreign or domestic."

Mrs. Alex Mitchell Is Injured In Auto Crash

Mrs. Alex Mitchell is resting at her home, 2001 Kenneth road, today, following an automobile accident about 6 o'clock Saturday night, in which she was badly cut about the face and considerably shaken up.

The Mitchell Dodge had just turned off Kenneth road and was coming south on Central avenue. Mr. Mitchell was driving. Fred Bell of the Savoy Hotel, Los Angeles, also occupied the front seat while Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Mamie Perkins of Chicago sat in the rear of the car.

As the car was passing Mountain street, a new Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Katharine Dukes of 1467 Ridgeway road, Los Angeles, came out of Mountain street and hit their machine in the middle of the left side, turning it over on its side.

Mrs. Mitchell was cut about the head. It was thought that Mrs. Perkins was injured, but she was able to go to her home in Los Angeles.

New Tourist Record in Honolulu During 1922

HONOLULU, March 12—Reports submitted by George T. Armitage, executive secretary of the Hawaiian Tourist Bureau, covering the year 1922, show that a new record has been set in tourist traffic in Hawaii. Armitage reported a total of 12,942 arrivals at Honolulu during the year, which exceeds by several hundred the total for 1921, and even surpasses the banner tourist year of 1916.

New Era in Development
That Psychological Wall
Deserving of Recognition
Recalling Famous Junket

By Gil A. Cowan

FORMAL opening of Glendale's municipal airport should be an event for much gratification on the part of the people. It marks a new era in the development of Glendale, making it the center to which aviation enthusiasts in Southern California will turn.

Naturally, since the war, there has been a lack of interest in aeronautics, but as time goes on it is a great field for development. People have become accustomed to flying. There still live many who are afraid to "go up in air," but nevertheless they do other things equally as dangerous, if not more so, and think nothing of it.

Commercial flying is no more dangerous than motoring, but it is well to note the legislature standardizing tests for pilots' licenses and enacting regulations for the control of the air.

Physical boundaries are nothing to compare with the psychological boundaries between communities. Take Hadrian's wall in England, for example. While it is still existent, the people on each side are markedly different. So it is between Pasadena and Glendale, Glendale and Los Angeles, northern and southern California and so forth and so on.

These things cannot be explained except that like attracts like. In San Francisco you find a bohemian population that would never tarry in Los Angeles overnight if it could be avoided. And an Angeleno in the north finds little fun in 'Frisco. Yet both have their good times.

It is a psychological wall, so much stronger than a physical wall that political division of these various communities seems to be an evil necessity in the minds of all thinking people.

Speaking of undignified campaigning, the Sacramento Union sets forth the following editorial which is both interesting and enlightening to the body politic which elects public servants, sometimes without much thought:

"Every deserving claim of the University of California for financial assistance from the state should receive adequate recognition in the budget, and from the attitude of the governor and the legislature, its chances are more than fair to receive this consideration.

"The university should not be now prejudicing its case by proposing a junket of the entire legislature to Berkeley to see what it is doing and to discover what it wants. The junket is, after all, the most useless campaign method that even a university could use. It is the custom on these jaunts for the members to pay little heed to the serious facts and figures which are placed before them but to proceed with a gala spirit to enjoy the entertainment and refreshments which may be placed before them.

"The university authorities should still have fresh in their memories the famous junket of 1907 when the legislature was transported to Berkeley to study its advantages as a state capital. They could also recall the trip which was made to the campus two years ago when a great number of the members made of the occasion an opportunity to catch a view of Market street and a taste of the bay breeze.

"These are undignified methods for a university to be using in telling its story to the lawmakers who give it support."

Yes, and may we not add that the university is not alone to blame when the lawmakers are more interested in entertainment and refreshments than they are in facts. The Union left a lot unsaid.

SILENT KNIGHTS GATHER TONIGHT

Factory Expert to Organize Chapter of Willys-Knight Riders

The Knight Riders are here!

Silent Knights of the Sleeve Valve will gather at 8 o'clock tonight at 228 South Brand boulevard in the salesroom of George T. Smith, local Overland and Willys-Knight dealer, to organize a local chapter of the Knight Riders.

F. W. Lawton, direct factory representative of the Willys-Knight and authority on internal combustion engines, will give a talk upon the Willys-Knight motor in order that Knight Riders may better understand their "steeds."

According to Harry C. Kennedy, sales manager of the local agency, the Knight Riders is the fastest-growing automobile organization in California. He stated that all owners of Willys-Knights were eligible for membership.

CALIFORNIA CLUB AIMS ARE SHOWN

Newcomers to Glendale Get Opportunity to Study Local Conditions

Editor the Evening News:—The California Club of Glendale, evolved from a series of neighborhood conferences, is composed of "just folks" who get together informally to discuss public questions and arouse an active interest in them. Political partisanship, sectarianism and sectionalism are taboo in their circle. The membership is composed mostly of what they please to call "newcomers." From personal experiences they have learned how difficult it is to become intelligently informed on public affairs as they pertain to California in general and Glendale in particular. They recognize the fact that the "newcomers" comprise a very large majority of the present population of Glendale, but are handicapped by lack of mutual acquaintance, as well as acquaintance with local conditions, in making their presence felt—except by contributions to the tax collector—as a factor in local government.

The club, as such, has no interest in the aspirations of any candidate for office other than to learn his ability and disposition to give honest and efficient service in the direction of a return to sanity and frugality in the conduct of the public business.

Some of the members who did not vote for Mr. Richardson in the primaries, or even in the election, are now among his most zealous supporters, thus illustrating the non-partisanship of the club.

Among the members the following sectarian denominations are known to be represented: Adventist, Congregational, Presbyterian, Unitarian, Catholic. The church relationship of other members has not been disclosed and is not a matter of even mild curiosity in the club.

Their only "prapaganda" is to arouse among citizens of Glendale a more active interest in public questions and aid in the dissemination of unbiased information helpful to an intelligent understanding of local coditions. If they have a slogan it is expressed in "Better public spirit. Better public service. Lend a hand."

CAVANAH STUDIO STAGES PROGRAM

Elks' Lodge Will Witness Entertainment After Business Session

Glendale Elks are to participate in a regular lodge meeting at 8 o'clock tonight and later will be entertained by a program presented by the Cavanah Studios of Music, Arts and Science. Previous plans had been for entertaining Lodge 99 of Los Angeles, but owing to the death of W. A Laswell father of Ray Laswell, exalted ruler of Lodge 99, the visit has been postponed until next month Mr. Laswell was buried this morning in Grand View Memorial park, in Glendale.

The entertainment program tonight, beginning not later than 10 o'clock, will include vocal duets by Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah dramtic readings by Carter Moore, tenor solos by Howard E. Cavanah violin solos by Julius Kranz, quartet selections by Mrs. W. Q. Widdows soprano, Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah contralto, Howard E Cavanah tenor and Myron Carman, basso.

K. of C. Ball Tossers Lose to Culver City

The results of yesterday afternoon's bat-crossing contest between the Glendale K. of C.'s and the Culver City Woodmen, played on the latter's grounds, was a 5 to 3 decision in favor of the boys from the film citadel.

Glendale might well have been represented on the winning side of the tally, had not Catcher Roy undergone an operation for appendicitis at the Glendale Research hospital Saturday night.

Catcher M. Doll, who substituted for him, did very well but had not had the necessary practice handling the swift, twisty ball Pitcher Jim Coleman unwinds.

Each team allowed a meager half-dozen hits, and the game was tight and interesting throughout.

STRANGE MALADY SWEEPING SOUTH

Sleeping Sickness Baffles Physicians in Effort To Halt Disease

By GEORGE E. DURNO
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Lethargic encephalitis—more familiarly known as "sleeping sickness"—has baffled the medical scientists of the world. The epidemic of the dread disease, which started in Canada several weeks ago and is sweeping south into the United States must be allowed to run its course—science has devised no means of checking it.

This admission was made to the International News Service today by Dr. George W. McCoy, head of hygienic laboratories of the United States public health service, and one of the leading scientists now engaged in a study of the curious ailment which sends its victims into a state of coma lasting from three weeks to as many months.

"Of sleeping sickness, so-called, we know much," Dr. McCoy declared. "And yet ye know nothing, which will enable us to check or cure it. It seems to follow in the wake of influenza—yet we have no proof. It must be a contagious disease—yet we have no proof. In short, frankly, we are able neither to diagnose the disease nor prove absolutely our theories arrived at thus far.

Data Are Compiled

"This, however, I will say," he continued. "We have met and bested in the past practically every contagious disease known to man. We have found preventive cures, or partial cures for almost all of the classic ailments. Therefore, I feel that lethargic encephalitis will respond to science. The public must remember we are now only barely entering into the experimental stage."

Much information on sleeping sickness has been, and is being compiled by the public health service. Every case of the disease throughout the country is reported to Washington; the attending physician makes a complete report of his handling of the case together with detailed observations and wherever practicable a representative of the service makes a careful physical examination of the patient.

Asked for advice to the public in avoidance of sleeping sickness, Dr. McCoy said:

Lead Normal Life

"All that I could say would be to avoid crowds, get plenty of fresh air and generally lead a normal, healthy life. That might be said as a warning against any contagious disease, yet that is the only advice I have to offer."

Manifestations of lethargic encephalitis, or or afflictions of similar symptoms, have been known to medical science for over two hundred years. The disease first attracted widespread attention following the epidemic of influenza in 1889-90. It then dropped off until the flu epidemic of 1917-18, only to flare up then and again subside until this winter.

Will Start Work on New Atwater School

The lumber is on the ground for the erection of the new school building in the Atwater district. The rapid growth of this part of the city will make it necessary to retain three of the bungalows now in use in addition to the eight rooms in the new building.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Atwater school, of which Mrs. Daniels is president, meets today, Monday, at the school, and plans are being made to increase the efficiency of the association.
